RUSSIAN FLANK IS IN DANGER

Japanese Use Yin-Kow Railroad for an Attack on Sin-Min-Tun.

AID TO KUROPATKIN

It Is Hastening from Direction of Vladivostok Under Gen. Linevitch.

GEN. STOESSEL SENDS REPORT

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

GEN. KUROKI'S HEADQUARTERS IN THE FIELD, Aug. 9, Via Funsan, Aug. 10.—Unofficial reports were current yesterday that a large force of Russians were advancing to attack the Japanese right. Heavy firing heard in that direction today, appearing to confirm the report.

The Japanese losses in the fighting of August 1 were 990.

SEOUL, KOREA, Aug. 9.—Two companies of Russian troops entered Gensan yesterday morning. Finding the Japanese to be in superior strength, the Russians retired. There were no casualties on either side. Everything indicates that a systematic advance has been begun by the Russians into Northeastern Korea.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 9.—It is reported in military circles that Lieut.-Gen. Linevitch is marching with troops from the direction of Vladivostok to create a diversion in the rear of Gen. Kuroki's army with the object of relieving Gen. Kuropatkin's force.

MUKDEN, Aug. 9.—The Japanese are using the Shan-Hai-Kwang-Yin-Kow railroad for provisioning the army and mobilizing troops for an attack on Sin-Min-Tun, about 30 miles west of Mukden.

Sin-Min-Tun is the northern terminus of the Shan-Hai-Kwang railway. From Kou-Pan-Tze, about 70 miles southwest of Sin-Min-Tun, a branch line connects with Yin-Kow, which is about 53 miles southeast of Kou-Pang-Tze.

A Russian correspondent, in a dispatch from Ti-Tche-Kiao, about a month ago said it was believed that the Shan-Hai-Kwang railway was then under the control of the Japanese with the consent of China. As early as March 28 last the Shan-Hai-Kwang correspondent of the London Daily Mail asserted that the Chinese had given official authorization to turn over the plant of the railway to the Japanese.

The Japanese are in control of the gulf of Liao-Tung, and should the statement in the dispatch from Mukden prove to be correct, it would indicate that they are landing troops at Shan-Hai-Kwang, the southern terminus of the railway, and transporting them to Sin-Min-Tun. The strategic importance of the possession of the railway, which was sought by the Russians early in the war, is apparent.

Chinese March With Japanese.

LIAO-YANG, Saturday, Aug. 6.—(Delayed in Transmission.)—Gen. Kuropatkin is ready to defeat the Japanese plan for cutting off Liao-Yang. The Japanese forces are concentrated in three groups—the first, at Si-Mou-Cheng, Hai-Cheng and Miuchwang; the second threatening Lian-Dian-Shan and Liao-Yang, and the third threatening Si-Kse-Yan, Liao-Yang and Mukden. According to Chinese reports the Japanese are massing in the direction of Sai-Ma-Tsze, evidently flanking Liao-Yang, and a strong column is ascending the Liao valley from Niuchwang, also for the purpose of flanking Liao-Yang. A reliable Chinese merchant declares this column includes 10,000 Chinese, Japanese subjects from the island of Formosa.

This most unwelcome development may induce other Chinese to join the Japanese. It is hard to tell a Formosan from a Manchurian.

Russians Win Outpost Fight.

SIN-TSIN-TIN, 60 MILES EAST OF MUKDEN, MANCHURIA, Monday, Aug. 8.—(Delayed in transmission.)—A column of Russian troops, consisting of two companies of Cossacks, two companies of sharpshooters, a company of infantry and a couple of mountain guns, set out August 4 on the Sai-Ma-Tsze road toward Tsi-An-Schan, 36 miles southward, and drove the Japanese outposts. A hundred men stubbornly resisted at three consecutive passes, but were routed by the Russian artillery, leaving ammunition and equipment behind them. One Russian was killed and four were wounded.

The Russians pursued the Japanese so far as Tsi-An-Schan. According to the

POSSE SEARCHING FOR THEM

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Aug. 9.—Constable Thomas Washabaugh is dangerously wounded and Guiseppi Carlo, a miner of the Edna No. 1 plant of the Pittsburgh and Baltimore Coal Company is dying in a cell in the county jail from a wound in the head. Constable Washabaugh was in search of plunder alleged to have been stolen from Pennsylvania railroad cars when he came upon three Italians in a thicket in the farm of the Keystone Coal and Coke Company. August Melkerson, of East Greensburg discovered a large quantity of shoes in the woods, reported his find to Constable Washabaugh and this evening both went to the rendezvous of the thieves. Three men were found nearby and arrested. A pair of handcuffs was placed upon Carlo. Although handcuffed he attempted to break loose. His companions immediately opened fire and Washabaugh received one bullet in the face and another in the back and was compelled to let go his hold on the handcuffs. Carlo drew a revolver and with the weapon within a few feet of the constable's head attempted to shoot. His weapon missed fire twice and he fell to the ground a bullet from the officer's revolver having lodged in the head, back of the right ear.

Melkerson was unarmed and made a desperate attempt to overpower the two Italians who had not been handcuffed, but they broke away and fled over the hills leaving Melkerson to watch the wounded man. Washabaugh drove to Greensburg and was taken to his home where he fainted from loss of blood. A physician pronounced his wounds dangerous.

Carlo was brought to jail by a portion of the posse that immediately left Greensburg on hearing of the shooting. Carlo is in a delirious condition and refuses to tell the names of his companions. He says that he met them a week ago at Loyalhanna. In his pocket was found a letterhead of Walters Brothers, merchants of Latrobe, whose store was robbed a few weeks ago. He disclaims all knowledge of the robbery.

The posse searched all the thickets in the vicinity of the shooting without coming upon Carlo's companions. At a late hour tonight it was reported that they were seen on the road leading to the No. 1 plant of the Jamison Coal and Coke Company. The posse is scouring that vicinity with orders to remain in the field until daybreak. Heading the posse are Chief of Police Amos K. Hutchinson and Lieut. of Police James Martin of Greensburg.

It is believed that the trio were members of a gang who have been breaking into Pennsylvania railroad freight trains. Some of the shoes recovered were for an Irish dealer, A. Swanson.

Carlo was evidently the leader, being older than his confederates. Upon him was found a 38-caliber revolver, none of the bullets of which had been exploded. A time book was found in his pocket which indicates that he had not worked at Edna No. 1 for more than a month.

Two foreigners, who acted suspiciously, were arrested two miles east of town late tonight and brought to jail. The men are suspected of being implicated in the shooting of Washabaugh.

GIRL DISAPPEARS WITH HER SISTER'S FIANCE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—(Special.)—Surrounding the disappearance of pretty 14-year-old Ethel Smith, daughter of W. J. Smith, 2626 North Fifth street, is a mystery which the police of Philadelphia have been requested to endeavor to solve.

Accompanied by her parents, Ethel went to the Broad street station Sunday night to say good-by to her father, who was going south. After kissing him goodby the girl went in the waiting room, presumably for a glass of water, and this was the last seen of her. When the Smiths went to the station, it is said, they were accompanied by Louis E. Watkins of New York, an intimate friend of the family, who is engaged to marry Ethel's elder sister. He also is missing.

NEGRO WHO SHOT WOMAN KILLED

Struck a Male Companion Who Remonstrated and the Latter Killed Him.

WOUNDED NEGRESS WILL DIE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, PA., Aug. 9.—As a result of a quarrel between a negro and his paramour at California this afternoon, Edward Jones is dead and Mollie Preston is in the California borough lockup in a precarious condition, having been shot through the groin by Jones. Nicholas Coleman, who killed Jones because of the latter's attempt on the woman's life, is in the California lockup, having given himself up immediately after the tragedy. Although the Preston woman was nearly a square after being shot her condition tonight is considered extremely critical and there seems to be but little hope for her recovery. Coleman says he killed Jones in self-defense, having been attacked by the infuriated negro after the woman was shot. The shooting took place in Coleman's house in California at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

This morning Jones, Mollie Preston and another negress, Mattie McVickers, commonly known as "Moselle," came up from Monessen to spend the day with Coleman in California. While drinking beer Jones and the Preston woman quarreled and he, pointing a revolver at the negress, who fled from the house. Coleman, remonstrating with him, Jones hit him with the butt end of the revolver. Coleman instantly reached for a shotgun standing in a corner near and while five feet from Jones shot the latter through the breast. Jones dropped to the floor and died in a few minutes. Coleman picked up Jones' body and placed it on a couch in the room. He then walked to police headquarters and gave himself up to Policeman Ansell of the Jones & Laughlin force, who placed him in the borough lockup.

The Preston woman was found lying in an alley about a square from the scene of the tragedy unconscious and weak from loss of blood. She was taken to the lockup and received medical attention. It was stated tonight that her chances for recovery were slim. The bullet struck the pelvic bone and glancing, penetrated the bladder. She was unconscious tonight. "Moselle" was found in the house of another negro a short distance away and was locked up. The murdered man had a bad reputation along the Monongahela river and was employed as a coal miner at Monessen. He was 38 years old. Coleman bears a good reputation in California, where he is employed in a livery barn. He is 45 years old. Both men are unmarried. Coroner Sipe will investigate the killing tomorrow.

TWO WOMEN BATHERS DROWN AT CAPE MAY

CAPE MAY, N. J., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—Less than five minutes after Lizzie Carson, 21 years old, and Margaret Gillie, 35 years old, of Philadelphia, walked from their cottage here this afternoon into the water, they appealed for help that could not be given, and sank beneath the waves. The two were the only bathers and the place they selected was one that bathers have been repeatedly warned against using. The strong flood tide running will probably carry the bodies up the bay.

Eight-Hour Law Invalid.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Justice White of the supreme court, Brooklyn, today declared the eight-hour labor law unconstitutional, and granted writs of mandamus to compel the city to pay $18,000 to the Brooklyn Alcatraz Company and $10,000 to the Uvalde Asphalt Company, payment of which had been withheld on the grounds that both companies had, in the performance of contracts for city work, required their employes to work more than eight hours a day.

FAMILY OF FOUR KILLED IN WRECK

Mother and Three Little Children Perish and Father is Badly Injured.

WRONG SIGNAL WAS GIVEN

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—A mother and her three little children were killed, and a number of persons seriously injured in a collision tonight, between a westbound Baltimore & Ohio local passenger train, known as No. 17, and a Chicago & Erie freight train, at the Brighton Park railroad crossing, at Western avenue and Thirty-ninth street. The collision followed a frantic effort on the part of the crossing flagman to change the course of the freight train to the crew of which he had given a signal that all was clear for them to back over the Baltimore & Ohio tracks.

The passenger train, which was approaching rapidly, was struck by the freight cars, and two of the coaches were overturned. One of the freight cars crashed through the woodwork of one of the coaches where the five who were killed were seated. They were a family named Schwartz. The father, who was the only one who escaped with his life. Although taken from the wreck unconscious and suffering from broken bones and scratches, it is believed that his injuries will not prove fatal. The mother and the three children were killed instantly.

THE DEAD:

MRS. C. C. SCHWARTZ, 28 years old, Garrett, Ind.

THREE BOYS, children of Mrs. Schwartz, ranging in ages from 6 to 11 years.

THE INJURED:

C. C. SCHWARTZ, Garrett, Ind.; both legs broken, left leg crushed; taken to Mercy hospital.

MICHAEL CUSAK, conductor in charge of the Chicago & Erie which was running on the Panhandle tracks; body bruised and internally injured.

C. W. JONES, Mansfield, O., conductor on Baltimore & Ohio train; right leg broken and body bruised.

MISS JENNIE SUNDERLAND, Sioux City, Ia.; body bruised and wrist sprained.

MISS NELLIE BROWN, New York city; body bruised and internally injured.

C. G. ARNOLD, Chicago, thrown from rear platform of Baltimore & Ohio train; body bruised.

MRS. H. E. FRY AND NEPHEW, both severely injured.

A rigid investigation will be made to determine who was responsible for the accident. Coroner John E. Traeger, as soon as notified of the wreck, hastened personally with a force of men to the scene, to determine where the blame lies. The officials of the Chicago & Erie and the Baltimore & Ohio roads also sent agents to the scene of the wreck, and declare that they will see to it that the guilty are punished.

Late tonight the police arrested Harry Moore, brakeman and Benjamin F. Waller, conductor of the freight train that caused the disaster.

Waller declared that the signal man in an adjoining tower was to blame for the accident, as he, according to Waller, gave the signal for the freight to come ahead, giving it the right of way. After it had started he reversed the signal, but it was then too late to prevent the collision.

TURKEY SHOWS WEAKENING SIGNS

It Is Expected Naval Demonstration Will Suffice to Bring Sultan to Terms.

WAR IS NOT ANTICIPATED

THE PITTSBURG GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 9.

Following extended discussion of the situation at the meeting of the cabinet today, it was announced at the state department that the purpose of the European fleet in going to Smyrna was not to make war on Turkey. Of course no one had expected that the guns would be loosed when the ships appeared off that port, but the official statement is a strong indication that severance of diplomatic relations with Turkey will be the limit of this incident.

If the porte does not yield an answer to the request made by Minister Leishman to the sultan for certain privileges on a par with those enjoyed by the citizens and institutions of European governments, Mr. Leishman will probably ask for his passports and Turkey will follow the invariable diplomatic course of withdrawing her minister from Washington. Mr. Leishman would then probably go aboard the flagship Olympia of the European squadron, and be taken to the European port in the Mediterranean.

These has been a marked change in the situation since yesterday when Chekib Bey, the Turkish minister, was informed that not only was the European squadron going to Smyrna, but the battleship squadron would linger hardily in European waters.

The indications are that Mr. Leishman has detected some symptoms favorable to better relations with the porte. Having created an international stir by ordering the fleet to Smyrna, the state department hopes that the sultan will discard such unwise counsel as may have hitherto been responsible for procrastination with the United States, and will direct that the questions at issue be promptly settled.

If a settlement of the dispute can be immediately reached, this government would be glad to recall the ships from Smyrna as soon as they arrive. The advisability of doing this has been discussed. There is strong reason for believing that the porte has given some sign to Minister Leishman that it will act more favorably. As the fleet is on its way to Smyrna now there is no way to stop it before it reaches that port, even if the state department desired to do so, which is not the case.

The advisability of issuing a statement on the Turkish incident was discussed at the cabinet meeting today. Secretary Hay believed that it might adversely affect the prospect of settlement. It further developed today that Rear Admiral Jewell, after touching at Smyrna, if conditions were not improved, will proceed to Salonica, at which port Minister Leishman, whether withdrawn from the Ottoman capital or not, would find it easy to communicate with him.

The situation tonight is that official opinion is much milder, that the possibility of force beyond the mere showing of ships and guns is very slight. The failure to issue a statement on the incident is regarded as evidence that there is much greater hope of early amicable settlement.

BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Secretary Hay's course toward Turkey, according to the official view here, is fully justifiable. The example of France forcing the porte to settle claims through a fleet demonstration is cited as an analagous case, and the officials here expect that the sultan will promptly yield the United States' demands before the demonstration at Smyrna reaches a serious aspect. The very exceptional relations Germany has with the porte will, it is assumed, be favorable to America should the sultan ask for Germany's advice.

RUSSIANS ENTRAP JAPANESE AND MOW DOWN REGIMENT

Entice Mikado's Men Into a Valley on Which a Masked Battery Is Trained—After the Slaughter They Leave Dummy Guns Behind.

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 9.—A dispatch from Si-Mou-Lin dated August 1 and filed at Liao-Yang August 6, relates an incident which occurred during the pursuit of the retreating Russians between Si-Mou-Cheng and Si-Mou-Lin, on the Hai-Cheng road. It says that the Japanese pressed the Russian rear from Si-Mou-Cheng, but did not remain in touch with it. Just south of Si-Mou-Lin the road winds through a valley admirably suited for an ambuscade.

The Russians with one battalion and two guns occupied the hills on one side, and placed six guns carefully masked on the road in the valley. A regiment of Japanese in close order hurried into the valley, and passed beneath the guns concealed on the heights. Then the guns in the road ahead opened and mowed the ranks of the Japanese who stood for some time apparently dazed and then broke and ran.

They reached a small hill, but this position was untenable and the Japanese were doomed to destruction whether they advanced or retreated.

They tried to retreat, but were almost wiped out by the Russian battery which had them in the rear. A few of the Japanese succeeded in ascending the hill and hiding among the rocks. The Russians expected that the Japanese would be largely reinforced, and so did not remain. The sappers decorated the position with wooden guns before they retired. The Japanese reinforcements arrived in the morning and shelled the dummy battery fiercely before they discovered its character.

EAST IS TO BE BATTLEGROUND

Republicans Will Meet the Democrats at Every Turn of Campaign.

WEST IS IN HAND

Increased Majority in Congress Is Promised from Beyond the Mississippi.

OFFICERS HOLD ALOOF

THE PITTSBURG GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 9.

It is now taken as certain that the battleground of the campaign is to be the east. The action of the Democratic executive committee in deciding to not establish western headquarters is construed here as meaning that the Democratic leaders have practically given up hope of carrying Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. These are the three states upon which they have based their hopes ever since the development of factional strife in the Republican party of Illinois and Wisconsin, and the selection of Thomas Taggart, an Indiana man, for national chairman. Moreover, the Democratic congressional campaign committee has declared its intention of capturing some of the Republican districts in the west, notably that of Representative J. W. Babcock of Wisconsin and three in Colorado.

But it is evident from the refusal of the Democratic executive committee to open western headquarters that it proposes to confine its attention principally to the east and strain the personal strength of Judge Parker to the limit.

The congressional committee can do any sharpshooting it may consider worth while in the west and the national committee may offer a few contributions to help western states, but the bulk of the funds and the efforts are to be used in the east. New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Delaware, West Virginia and Maryland are the states on which the managers of the Parker campaign will concentrate their efforts.

Will Fight to the End.

They are the states that are now classed as doubtful and upon which the Democrats depend to win for them the coming election. And in every one of these states the Republican leaders will fight to the end and oppose all the movements of the Democrats. That is why Chairman Cortelyou will devote the greater portion of his time to the New York headquarters and why he has appointed Senator Scott, Gov. Murphy of New Jersey and Murray Crane of Massachusetts, all men of experience in politics and who know the east and the conditions that obtain there, on the committee which will have direct charge of the eastern battlefield.

Notwithstanding the determination of the Democrats to give little attention to the west, the Republicans will make a fight in that section not only to bring their increased Republican majorities, but to see that no inroads are made upon the Republican majority in the house of representatives. Missouri will receive considerable attention from the Republican congressional campaign committee, for it is understood there is a chance to gain four congressmen from that state.

Cheerful news for the Republicans was brought from the west today by two well-known members of the house, Mr. Curtis of Kansas and Mr. McCleary of Minnesota.

"Minnesota will send eight Republicans," said Mr. McCleary, this afternoon. "There is no trouble for the Republicans in any congressional district, but in the contest we have a good prospect to elect one district now represented by a Democrat. I think that the Minneapolis district will return a Republican to the next house."

"Kansas is safe Republican by 40,000 to 50,000," said Mr. Curtis, "and will return eight Republican representatives to the house. We are not afraid of the west on the presidential or congressional tickets, and if the east will do as well by the Republican tickets as the west Roosevelt will have a smashing majority."

Federal Officers to Keep Out.

Heads of federal departments have let it be known that their officials are not to take an active part in local or state politics where their activity might prove compromising in any way to the administration. President Roosevelt has declined emphatically to be drawn into factional troubles in any state and it is not deemed desirable that federal officials should be active in such contests.

In an official statement, issued at the White House today, Secretary Loeb made it clear that no letter was sent, either by the president or by him or by their authority, to the National Association of Stationary Engineers in session at Richmond, declining to receive the engineers as a body, because "it would create capital for the Democratic campaign, and particularly where an association was so closely allied to labor."

Secretary Loeb says that "No statements in any way resembling those alleged to have been made, were made by either the president or his secretary to anyone." His statement then continues: "Following the custom of President McKinley, President Roosevelt has been obliged to refuse to receive delegations, excepting upon public business. It is not possible for the president to receive delegations for other purposes, and, of course, if he made an exception in one case, in justice to other organizations he would have to receive them also."

GALLOWS IS CHEATED OF ITS NEGRO PREY

ST. JOSEPH, MO., Aug. 9.—William Coates, a negro, left the criminal court today a free man, after having been tried five times for the murder of his mother two years ago, and having been twice sentenced to be hanged. Coates was granted a new trial today upon purely technical points. Mrs. Coates was found dead in her home, having been strangled to death.

DEALERS HAUL THEIR OWN ICE

Latest Move of Packing House Strikers Not a Brilliant Success.

RIOTING HAS CEASED

The Unions Protest to Mayor Against Packers' Alleged Violation of Sanitary Laws.

IMMIGRANT STORY NAILED

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—The stock yards strike was freer of rioting today than at any time since the struggle with the packers began. The day was practically free of violence.

The strike leaders spent the day in seeing that the boycott against the retail markets which have been placed under the ban of the unions, was being enforced. In some instances the strikers were successful in cutting off the supply of ice, but in many of the places the boycott did not work so well as had been expected, the retailers being able to haul what ice they needed in their own wagons.

The packers claim that 80 per cent of the usual amount of work was carried on today. The receipts of live stock, while not large, were almost normal compared with corresponding days before the strike began. The greater portion of these arrivals were purchased by the packers, and before night had been slaughtered.

Representatives of the allied trades accompanied by several city aldermen, visited Mayor Harrison today and held a conference in regard to alleged violation of the building and health ordinances. After the conference the mayor said:

"The packers have no more right to violate the law than have the strikers. If the alleged violations are found to be facts they must cease."

Strikers Denounce Tilden.

The allied trades executive committee today adopted resolutions denouncing President Edward Tilden of Libby, McNeil & Libby on account of his alleged attitude toward child labor, and demanded his resignation as a member of the public school board of Chicago.

According to the Drovers Journal the independent packing concerns have raised prices above that of the packers whose employes are on strike. The advance applies to all kinds of meats and ranges from two to four and a half cents a pound.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Aug. 9.—National President Cornelius P. Shea of the Brotherhood of Teamsters today said he was opposed to any further spread of the Chicago packing house strike, and was against a sympathetic strike outside of the men engaged in stock yards work.

SUICIDE OBJECTS TO CURIOSITY

Left Note Saying It Is Nobody's Business Why He Killed Himself.

PITIFUL DEATH OF A CHILD

The mystery surrounding Henry Pusschel, who was found dead in a clump of bushes on the hill above Port Perry Monday evening, has been only partly cleared up. The small blue bromo seltzer bottle found beside him, was yesterday found to have contained cyanide of potassium and on the leaf of a note book a paragraph was scribbled in German, admitting that the writer contemplated suicide. It was evidently written after the man had swallowed the poison.

The note reads: "I take my own life. Let no one be inquisitive for it is nobody's business who I am, or why I did it. I am tired of living." There was no signature.

The naturalization papers of Henry Pusschel neatly folded in the note book were the only means of identification. The dead man's watch ran until nearly noon yesterday. Pusschel was well dressed. Annotations in his note book indicated that he was either a draughtsman or an expert mechanic. Persons in New York and Jersey City, whose addresses appear in the note book will be communicated with. It is thought he may have come from the east and left the train at Bessemer.

Deputy Coroner John Black issued a certificate yesterday to permit the burial of Ruth Ann Keffler, aged 2, whose mother lives at 3002 Shady avenue, Allegheny. The child died on Monday morning. When an undertaker went to the house to prepare it for burial he asked for the doctor's certificate of death and was told no doctor had seen her for two weeks. The matter was then reported to the coroner. The mother said her husband deserted her some months ago. The child became sick in June and a doctor prescribed for it. Two weks ago, she said, he told her he could not do it any good; that no doctor could, and advised her not to spend money for medicine. The doctor then went away for a vacation and the child died.

While bathing in the Monongahela river at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, Joseph Braunstein, aged 16, of 2119 Webster avenue, was drowned. His parents became hysterical when notified of the death of their son. A neighbor called at the morgue and asked that the body be kept there if found for fear of the consequences if it were taken to the home. The body was not recovered last night.

Coroner McGeary will this morning exhume the body of Mrs. Catherine Kalodj, aged 37, who died at her home, 3009 Mulberry alley, last Sunday and was buried at the St. Marys cemetery Monday. A post-mortem examination will be made to determine the exact cause of death. The woman was taken ill about 10 days ago and was attended by Dr. C. S. Bousek, 104 Chestnut street, Allegheny. Just before the woman died she called her daughter into the room and blamed a former friend for her death.

The inquest was held yesterday in the death of Jacob Wagner, aged 8, who was drowned Monday in the Allegheny river at the foot of Thirtieth street by his companion, Stephen Vosky, aged 9, pushing him in the water. The jury rendered a verdict of accidental drowning, as Vosky said he intended no harm when he shoved his companion into the water.

Chinese 2,000 Japanese are holding that place.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 9.—Although Lieut.-Gen. Sakharoff reports that there is no change in the situation around Liao Yang it is believed from the special dispatches from Liao-Yang and Sin-Tsin-Tin that the Japanese are continuing their preparations for a flanking movement, which may possibly alter the nature of the expected engagement at Liao-Yang, and which may also further delay the crucial development.

The concentration of a strong Japanese force at Sai-Ma-Tsze indicates an intention to press forward toward Mukden, and it possible to cut the communications and prevent Gen. Kuropatkin from retiring northward. Gen. Kuropatkin is evidently aware of this move, and is sending out reconnoitering parties from Sin-Tsin-Tin along the Sai-Ma-Tsze road. This is shown by the slight encounter with a Japanese outpost within 30 miles of Sin-Tsin-Tin. The Japanese are also bringing up strong forces from Yin-Kow.

The following dispatch from Viceroy Alexieff, dated August 7, has been received by the czar:

Gen. Stoessel reports as follows:

"At 5 in the morning of July 27, the enemy having advanced a strong force their artillery opened fire along their whole front, followed by a series of attacks, one of which, directed against Yuptiana mountain, was especially vigorous.

"At about 8 in the evening the enemy were everywhere repulsed with enormous losses. I remained in the advanced positions, which two days afterward Yuptiana mountain, was especially vigorous.

"At about 8 in the evening the enemy were everywhere repulsed with enormous losses. I remained in the advanced positions, which two days afterward Yuptiana mountain, was especially vigorous.

"Our losses have not yet been ascertained, but they were not great. The losses of the Japanese were very considerable. The wounded, as well as those of the Japanese had about 10,000 men and a considerable number of siege guns."

CHEFOO, Aug. 9.—(8 p. m.)—There is good reason to believe that the Japanese are renewing their attack on the remaining outer positions at Port Arthur. The officers of the German cruiser Fuerst Bismarck, lying at the outer edge of this harbor, express the opinion that the firing heard last night was an encounter between detachments of the belligerents' warships approximately 20 miles northwest of Cheefoo. From the cruiser's advantageous position the flashes preceding the detonations could be seen.

PROTECTED BY MAGIC CURRENT

Alleghenian's Invention Places Trains Under Automatic Control of Block Signal.

FINAL TEST IS SUCCESSFUL

The practicability of the safety train controlling device of the Automatic Electric Block Signal Company of Allegheny, was demonstrated to a large gathering of railroad men yesterday morning at St. Marys, Pa., on the Pittsburgh, Shawmut & Northern line. The machine worked with wonderful accuracy, placing the entire control of the train in the magic mechanism of the automatic block signal. The application of the device to the railroads of the country will mean the prevention of 75 per cent of accidents and will, in a large measure, facilitate the operation of fast express trains.

The machine is operated on a principle similar to that of block signals which are now in use on all the leading railroads, except that the crowning achievement in the improvement of electrical devices in railroading is reached. This newest appliance not only warns the engineer of danger ahead, but seizes the throttle and the airbrake valve and does his work by stopping his train the moment it enters an obstructed block. Hereafter collisions, wrecks caused by washouts, landslides, broken bridges, runaway cars and spreading rails will be well-nigh impossible. The flagman and the engineer may fall asleep, but the four-volt electric current in the rails will guard the lives of passengers and crew.

Test Made Under Poor Conditions.

The test yesterday was given under conditions that would have discouraged the average inventor. The roadbed of the Shawmut is not the best calculated for the operation of block signals and electricians declared that if the machine would produce the required results it would proclaim surprising latitude in the practical uses of the invention. An old freight locomotive was taken to the Shawmut shops at St. Marys and rigged up with a crude model of the machine. A section of the Shawmut track a mile north of the town was laid with a third rail and wired for the working of the automatic signal, the equipment being not unlike that used on all roads, except that the voltage was lower and all the parts to the mechanism were constructed with remarkable simplicity.

One track circuit is on the closed circuit style, using the rails as conductors. A third rail is connected directly to the electrical appliances of the locomotive by means of a brush or shoe. Any obstruction in the block which the locomotive enters causes the circuit to open instantly and in so doing the throttle valve and airbrake valve are operated simultaneously, shutting off the steam and applying the air, causing the train to be stopped within its own length if necessary.

Two Years Spent in Studying Problem.

The first experiments with the invention were made by George W. Cohen of Allegheny, about two years ago. Mr. Cohen is now in Europe, but W. C. McElheny, W. C. Neal, C. L. Stevens and J. B. Wheeler continued work on the mechanical problems which arose, and six months ago finished a miniature working model which was placed on exhibition in their shops at Sandusky and Lacock streets, Allegheny. Applications for patents were granted about the same time and the work was begun on the regular equipment of a locomotive. Owing to the overcrowding of motive power on the railroads adjacent to Pittsburgh, the demonstration was given to the Shawmut, and the honor of constructing the first machine was given to D. C. Conway and his assistants in the shops at St. Marys.

On Monday night Messrs. McElheny, Neal, Stevens and Wheeler with Charles Schneider, G. G. Junker, John Kirkpatrick and a number of other Pittsburghers interested in the invention, made the journey to the little town in Elk county to witness the demonstration. In a passenger coach attached to the old freight locomotive they started over the road. While running about 20 miles an hour around a sharp bend in the road near the Elk county home the train came to a sudden stop—the automatic signal had done its work. The spectators then disembarked and took their stand on the bank beside the track while the train was taken half a mile down the road and started forward at full speed. A bar was thrown across the track. The locomotive's puffing ceased and it seemed to crouch close to the rails. It ran scarcely 40 yards, in the meantime the engineer rode with his hands out of the window. H. E. Hale of the Baltimore & Ohio; Supt. A. M. Lane of the Shawmut, E. F. Reisler of the Erie railroads, and J. E. Wilson of the Union Switch & Signal Company, who witnessed the working of the machine, declared that it would revolutionize the operation of trains.

Climax of Safety Attained.

It is claimed that the invention attains the climax of safety appliances so far as man's ingenuity can devise. The engineers need not expose his head from his cab to see that the road is clear. Two signal lights are placed in his cab. While the white light burns he has the right of way. When the red lamp is lighted the train will be stopped automatically at the same instant. In case the electrical connections on the locomotive should become deranged, the effect will be the same as on an obstructed track, making it impossible to proceed until the machine is repaired.

Railroad officials pointed out many instances in which hundreds of lives would have been saved had the appliance been in use. It would have prevented the awful wreck in Colorado last Monday morning because the breaking of the electrical circuit by the sinking of the rails on the bridge would have checked the train before reaching the fatal bridge. Disasters caused by an open switch would be impossible. Landslides would give instant warning. Lying rock or snow on the rails would not interfere, immunity from the effects of the elements being demonstrated by placing the miniature model under water. The merits of the invention have been called to the notice of the interstate commerce commission and its favorable recommendation is anticipated.

MRS. GOELET ONLY MISLAID $200,000 WORTH OF JEWELS

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.— In a statement issued this afternoon, the detective agency engaged in the search for $200,000 worth of jewels, the property of Mrs. Odgen Goelet, which were supposed to have been stolen, announced that the jewels were found today in Mrs. Goelet's safe in this city. After a thorough investigation at Newport which indicated that no robbery had been committed, this was suggested to her that the jewels were probably in her safe in this city. Acting on the suggestion Mrs. Goelet found the jewels where she had placed them.

DIRECTORS HELD STORMY SESSION

South Side Hospital Board Got Into a Deadlock Over Election of Hospital Staff.

FIGHT WAGED THREE HOURS

After a stormy session of over three hours' duration, in an effort to elect physicians to the vacancies on the hospital staff, the directors of the South Side hospital last night adjourned deadlocked, without taking any official action on appointments.

Eleven of the 15 members on the directorate were present, including President John L. Lewis, John Gray, W. P. Sankey, the Rev. William Surdival, Magistrate J. H. Vitchestain, Dr. George P. Rossmann, Dr. William T. Burleigh, Dr. A. J. Barchfeld, Dr. William H. Kirk, Dr. C. C. Hersman and Daniel Beech.

The dissention of last evening was a continuation of the factional fight which has prevailed in the hospital since the Sister Superior came to power in the last fall. In the election of five new directors a month ago, who superceded five arrayed on the opposite side, the new administration faction polled little if any opposition to a prepared ticket which was offered last night by Dr. Burleigh for the vacancies on the staff.

With a practical majority of eight to elect, the directors at once found themselves separated by a vote of six to four. At this time Mr. Lewis had not arrived, but he came shortly in response to a telephone call. The vote then changed seven to four.

In the ticket presented by Dr. Burleigh for election appeared his own name, and that of Drs. Rossmann, Whitaker, Charles and Alonzo D. Husted. Immediately upon the presentation of the ticket a storm of opposition arose from Drs. Barchfeld, Kirk and Hersman and Daniel Beech. Speeches were made in which personalities were fired from one side to the other without any sugar coating. A surprise was given the Burleigh camp when Daniel Beech addressed the directors, opposing the election of members of the hospital directorate upon the hospital staff on the ground that it caused much dissension in the past. Mr. Beech had previously been counted one of the Burleigh faction. Dr. Kirk voiced the same sentiments and more personalities followed that were carried upstairs and repeated on the hospital steps upon the adjournment of the meeting, Drs. Burleigh and Kirk continuing the debate there.

The session was held behind closed doors and none of the members would discuss the affair, all pleading ignorance of the names which they had been discussing for over three hours.

Several unimportant matters bearing on routine business were passed without debate, but any reference to appointment on the hospital staff met with bitter opposition.

A member of the Burleigh faction stated after the meeting that nothing had been accomplished and that results would probably be attained at the next meeting, scheduled for Tuesday evening, September 13. "In the meanwhile," continued the speaker, "the hospital staff is sufficiently filled to carry on the requirements of the institution. The fight of this evening is only a continuation of the old fight, with no sufficient reason other than causing disruption; however, it will soon be settled for good."

WILMERDING YOUTHS ADRIFT AT MILWAUKEE

Eleven-Year-Old Boy Buys Railroad Tickets for Two Companions.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 9.—George Gibson, aged 11, living with his parents in Wilmerding, Pa., procured $25 last Monday, and meeting his playmates, Harry Wessel, aged 11, and Eddy Wessel, aged 18, proposed that they accompany him to Milwaukee. The Wessel boys willingly accompanied their mentor to the depot, where the lad bought tickets for them all to Milwaukee. When they reached Chicago Gibson went to a telegraph booth and scribbled a message to his aunt at Oconomowoc, Wis., asking her in plaintive words to meet him in Milwaukee and give him safe conduct to his Pennsylvania home. On receipt of the message the aunt came to Milwaukee, consulted the police department and escorted by Officer Murphy repaired to the depot tonight. As soon as Gibson alighted he ran to his aunt. The Wessel brothers were taken in charge by Officer Murphy and lodged in the police station, where they will be kept until tomorrow, when they will be returned to their parents.

Boy Found Bound Hand and Foot Makes a Curious and Sensational Charge Against His Father.

Policeman Homer Crooks discovered Michael Meglio, aged 10, an Italian bound hand and foot, lying in a shed in the rear of No. 18 Joseph street, East End, last night. He cut the boy loose and on questioning him found that his father, Angelo Meglio, a city lamplighter, had beaten him and after tying him had left him. The officer arrested the elder Meglio.

The father claims the boy is incorrigible and had threatened to leave home. Young Meglio, however, says his father's abuse began a few days ago, when he found a purse containing a large sum of money and returned it to the owner, a local automobile dealer. In return for his honesty the man wanted to give the boy a job at his plant, which the latter accepted, but when the father learned of the matter he beat the youngster.

PHILADELPHIANS WIN IN THE GUARD SHOOT

Fourteenth Regiment Team Leads for Miller Trophy in the Second Brigade.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

MT. GRETNA, PA., Aug. 9.—Philadelphia marksmen carried off the honors in the target contests of the national guard here today. The First City troop won the cavalry match and captured the trophy today's victory marking the third time the troop has won the cup.

The First regiment won the trophy in the infantry match.

An innovation in the practice matches was introduced today in the shape of silhouette fighters instead of the regular circular targets. The change, it is asserted, was a decided detriment to good shooting.

The First regiment leads in the race for the First brigade Miller trophy and the Fourteenth regiment leads for the Second Brigade Miller trophy. Scores:

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WHEELING, W. VA., Aug. 9.—The triennial session of the grand patriarchy of the Grand United Order of Odd Fellows of the United States convened here this morning. Right Grand Venerable Patriarch George T. Boson, of Washington, D. C., called the session to order and the call of the roll showed representatives of nearly 10 lodges in attendance. The session will continue three days.

Today's session was devoted mainly to routine and preliminary work. Committees were appointed and adjournment was taken pending their reports. Tomorrow will be the big day of the session when the annual competitive drill will occur. It is expected companies from Pittsburgh, Alliance, Indianapolis, Columbus, Springfield, Cincinnati, Gallipolis, Fairmont, Hillsborough, Washington Court House and Wellsburg will arrive in the city to participate in this drill for which a prize of $100 has been offered.

This evening the members of Wheeling Patriarchic No. 8 tendered the grand officers and delegates a reception.

DISCUSSED THE CUT IN PRICE OF BILLETS

President Thompson of Republic Company Meets Other Manufacturers.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Alexis W. Thompson, president of the Republic Iron and Steel Company; Willis King of Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, and other billet manufacturers met today and discussed the cut in billets made by the Republic company. Mr. Thompson arrived in the city today and visited W. E. Corey, president of the United States Steel Corporation, where the situation was also canvassed.

Mr. Thompson was informed of the attitude of the leading members of the Billet association who are in a belligerent frame of mind. The preliminary conferences preparatory to the meeting of the Billet association in Pittsburgh on Friday or Saturday next did not produce any results. Various schemes have been suggested by which a compromise might be reached, but it is not likely that anything will be done until the action of the Pittsburgh meeting is taken.

The statement made in Wall street today that the Clairton Steel Company made a billet conversion for the Pittsburgh Steel Company last year on practically the same basis as they did the Republic Steel Company, is untrue. The Clairton Steel Company sold billets at the pool prices last year to the Pittsburgh Steel Company. The Clairton Steel Company made the pig iron, converted it and sold it to the Pittsburgh company at the associated prices.

There is now a trade war in progress in the tin plate, sheet steel and, according to report, in the nail and wire departments. In the tin plate and sheet steel branches the prices have been cut to the bone. The prevailing prices are the lowest in several years. Two independent tin plate plants have already closed their doors, unable to stand the competition.

LARKIN TO SEE GUTHRIE.

Controller to Consult His Attorney at White Sulphur Springs Next Week.

Controller Larkin goes to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., next Wednesday to consult Attorney George W. Guthrie about the bond ordinance and holding up the payroll of the filtration bureau. Mr. Guthrie is a member of the committee appointed by the Democratic national convention to notify the vice presidential candidate, H. G. Davis, of his nomination. The notification ceremonies take place at White Sulphur Springs, and Mr. Guthrie will go there from Bar Harbor, Me., where he is spending the summer. He will then probably return to Maine.

The controller still holds up the payroll of the filtration bureau, although he has paid small salaried men such as the laborers and watchmen. The chief engineer, Morris Knowles, and his force of engineers, clerks and other high priced employes have been refused their pay.

STAMP COLLECTORS MEET.

They Are Holding Their Nineteenth Annual Convention in the Lecture Room of Carnegie Library.

The American Philatelic association, the organization of collectors of postage stamps, began its nineteenth annual convention in the lecture room of the Carnegie library yesterday morning. The association numbers 600 members, but only 60 answered to the roll call when the convention opened.

A. G. Burgoyne welcomed the members to Pittsburgh. Frank H. Burt of Boston, first vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Alexander Hemland of Brooklyn. The international secretary of the association is Eugene Doeblin of Pittsburgh. The following were presented as the prospective officers for the ensuing year and will probably be elected: President, H. E. Deats of Plainfield, N. J.; first vice president, F. H. Burt of Boston; second vice president, Gordon Ireland, Cambridge, Mass.; third vice president, William Wylie, Bexerly, Mass.; secretary, D. T. Eaton, and treasurer, C. L. Annan, St. Paul. The above named, with William E. Loy of Bokeley, Cal., and John S. Rich of New York, were elected directors.

In the afternoon the members took a trolley ride to points of interest in the city and vicinity. Mr. Doeblin presided at the night session. Mr. Burgoyne read a paper on the collections of fiscal stamps. W. C. Stone's paper discussed "Balloon and Pigeon Posts" in operation at the siege of Paris. C. E. Severn of Chicago read a paper and Dr. T. G. Hazard read one prepared by John N. Luff of New York.

The convention will continue today and tomorrow, and tonight a banquet will be held at the Hotel Henry.

FOREIGN MAIL WEIGHT RESTRICTIONS REMOVED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Postmaster-General Payne has amended the postal regulations to take effect immediately, so as to permit, for the first time, the elimination of all weight restrictions on first-class mail matter addressed to all countries except Canada, Mexico, and Cuba, to which the domestic privileges already apply. This action is the result of urgent representations largely by banking interests who want to send securities abroad in this way. The present maximum weight restriction on first-class matter is four pounds.

Money Returned to the Bank.

P. W. Morgan, vice president and cashier of the East Pittsburgh Savings and Trust Company, stated yesterday that fully 50 per cent of the withdrawals made on the day before had been returned to the bank yesterday. The cause of the "run" was, as stated exclusively in The Gazette of yesterday, a confusion in the minds of some of the foreign element of the bank with a hotel at East Pittsburgh. Mr. Morgan said that the withdrawals hardly constituted a "run."

CAPTURE SAVED FUGITIVE'S LIFE

Slayer of Moon Run Miner Arrested in Braddock and Confesses.

INSISTS IT WAS AN ACCIDENT

About to commit suicide Michael Wanchura, who killed Peter Sadasky at Wanchura's home in Moon Run, Robinson township, Monday night, was captured last evening in Braddock at the home of his half-brother. The county authorities have been notified by the Braddock police and the prisoner will be brought to Pittsburgh today and lodged in the county jail. Wanchura admits that he killed Sadasky, but declares it was an accident. He also states that he had a quarrel with Sadasky over Mrs. Wanchura before the shooting took place.

Wanchura arrived in Braddock last evening about 5 o'clock, having walked from Moon Run to Braddock. He spent Monday night and all day yesterday wandering about, and when he arrived in Braddock he was dirty and weary. He went to Willow alley, near Eleventh street, where his half-brother, Michael Wanchura, lives. He attracted the attention of other Slavs in the neighborhood and they notified Officer Michael Ondrey, who is a Slav himself.

Confessed to the Shooting.

With Chief William Bennett Officer Ondrey went to the house and found Wanchura. The latter said he had just come from Clairton to see some friends. He inquired for Simon Sphec, who has a saloon in Braddock, saying that Sphec was his friend. The officers took Wanchura to Sphec's place, but Sphec identified Wanchura as a Moon Run miner. Several others in the saloon declared that Wanchura was from Moon Run. Then

MICHAEL WANCHURA,
Who Admits Killing Peter Sadasky.

Wanchura broke down and admitted that he was the man who had killed Sadasky. He told the story of the shooting, which he claims was an accident. He says Sadasky did not board at his house, as has been stated, but went to the house Monday night with a companion and that the two men took with them a quart of whisky. Wanchura took several drinks from the bottle, as also did his wife. When the quart was finished Sadasky and his companion left the house and procured two more quarts, with which they returned.

The entire party got drunk, and Wanchura says that while he was lying intoxicated the other two men attempted to assault his wife. He interfered and the men stopped. He said he suspected that the relations between Sadasky and Mrs. Wanchura had previously been more than friendly. Sadasky and his friends desisted and Wanchura said that the men began to talk of the Russian-Japanese war. He told them he had a shotgun upstairs and would show them how he would kill the Japanese if he was fighting.

He got the shotgun and permitted Sadasky to fire several shots. He then took the gun himself and fired one shot, which accidentally lodged in Sadasky's back. At first he could not believe that he had hit Sadasky. His daughter, 11 years old, was a witness of the shooting and told him that Sadasky was badly hurt.

Sadasky fell in the doorway, and when he found that he had killed Sadasky he fled, throwing the gun in a yard near his house. He said that he wanted to kill himself, but could not find another loaded shell. He did not know how long Sadasky lived after being shot nor what time it was when he left the house, except that it was after dark. He said he walked a long distance until he was near Pittsburgh, and then he turned about and started for Braddock, making up his mind that he would go there to bid his half-brother good-by and then commit suicide. He said he had planned, when arrested, to either hang or drown himself. Wanchura is 58 years of age. He has five children. His son was married recently and Wanchura says that since the marriage he had been celebrating the event by drinking considerably.

Attempted to Assault Girl.

An investigation yesterday by John Edmundson, constable of Robinson township, developed that Wanchura had attempted to commit suicide after the shooting of Sadasky. His brother said Wanchura rushed into his house and asked for a knife, saying he had had trouble. The brother refused to give him a knife and he ran away. The youngest daughter of Wanchura, aged 11, told the constable that Sadasky had attempted to assault her, that she broke away from him and that he went to her mother and gave her liquor. Near Sadasky were found half a dozen loaded shells and two empty shells. The constable believes that one shot was fired at Mrs. Wanchura. When Mrs. Wanchura recovered from her drunken stupor she could not tell anything of the shooting or the circumstances leading up to it.

Susan Banas, married daughter of Wanchura, who lives next door, said that on Monday night Sadasky and another miner, Stanley Moses, came to her house with two quarts of whiskey and while drinking she said Sadasky made her an improper proposal. Her husband being absent, she ran to her father's house and the two men left. Later Sadasky and his companion entered the father's house and shared their liquor with Wanchura and his wife. Moses says he left the Wanchura house temporarily and heard a shot a few minutes later. On going back he found Sadasky and Mrs. Wanchura lying on the doorstep. Sadasky was dead and Mrs. Wanchura in a stupor. Wanchura had vanished.

MORE REPUBLICAN VOTES CLAIMED

Bigelow Says Bond Bill Will Be Passed Finally in Common Council Tomorrow.

VERNER LOOKS AFTER SELECT

"The bond ordinance will be passed finally in common council on Thursday, and after that my work in connection with the ordinance will be over. Some other person must put it through select council. As soon as the ordinance is through common council I am going on my vacation," said Director Bigelow yesterday.

"Is Murry Verner expected to get the ordinance through select council?" Director Bigelow was asked. He smiled and replied:

"I won't say who."

Bigelow's announcement that the bond ordinance would be passed finally tomorrow was made in the most positive manner. He said he would have enough votes to suspend the rules, which he failed to do on Monday. The Republicans had 13 votes against suspension of the rules on Monday. Bergmann of the Twenty-ninth ward was out of the room when the vote was taken. His vote would have increased the Republican vote to 14. Two other Republicans who have never wavered, A. M. Barr and John Lewis, were out of the city.

If all the members of common council are present tomorrow the administration will have to get four more Republican votes than they had on Monday. Bigelow claimed the vote of one Fourteenth ward member on Monday, but this member was not present at the session. Bigelow says he will get him tomorrow.

Bigelow's statement that his task will be finished when the ordinance is through common council leaves no doubt that the passage of the bill in select council will be intrusted to Murry A. Verner, as this was the arrangement in the fight over the city depositories and on other occasions. There are indications that there is more uncertainty about the fate of the measure in select council than in the lower branch, and that unless means are employed to remove certain objections it may be held up in the upper body.

Director Bigelow said the corporations committee meets this afternoon to approve the ordinances of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, introduced in common council last week. It was rumored yesterday that a combination had been made by the administration whereby the bond and traction ordinances could be passed together.

SAW HUSBAND'S SIGNATURE TO A MARRIAGE LICENSE

Mrs. Halton Declares That While She Was in England William Married Again—Denies Indignantly That She Is Dead.

"Yes, that is may husband's signature," said Mrs. Hatton, when she saw the name of William Hatton signed to an application for a marriage license in 1896.

Mrs. Hatton was at the marriage license office to look up the records.

"William Hatton is my husband," she said, "and married another woman after sending me to England to visit my people."

The record showed that a license was granted to a William Hatton to wed Jennie Thornburg, both parties residing in Sharpsburg at the time. The application stated that Hatton had been married before, but the union had been dissolved by death.

"Well, I'm very much alive," said Mrs. Hatton, "and this is my daughter," pointing to a young woman with her. "We have just arrived in the city from England, although I have known for two years that my husband was married to another woman."

Mrs. Hatton said her husband lived in Glenwood and was employed in the trainmaster's office of the Baltimore & Ohio road. They had formerly lived in Allegheny. With her two children she had gone to England to visit her parents, and although her husband had promised many times to send her money with which to return to this country, she claimed he had never done so, and not till now could she get money enough together to return. She said that about two years ago she sent her son over here and he told her that his father was married again.

Mrs. Hatton said that she saw her husband a few days ago and told him that she did not want to make trouble for him, but demanded that he support her. She claims he promised to do so, but says that when she went to his office yesterday she learned that he had secured a pass to Chicago and left the city.

Mrs. Hatton said she would seek the aid of the law to reach her husband and compel him to support her. She is at present stopping with her son in Allegheny.

Robbers Active in Rennerdale.

Three houses were entered and attempts were made to enter two others in Rennerdale early yesterday morning. Shots were exchanged by robbers and residents but no one was injured. J. T. Fox was awakened by hearing someone trying to force open a window. Hearing voices, he fired. The men returned the fire and fled. The home of N. C. Ralph, Charles Farrar, R. K. Wilson and J. McKown were entered. The town has no police protection. The thieves got but little booty.

65c Today for a Man's Straw Hat.

As straws show which way the wind blows, the heading points out that men can buy for 65c any straw hat in the house—former prices were $1.50, $2.00 and $2.50.

Buy for next season—that's the way; styles in straw hats change but little. Hardly worth mentioning. You are limited to size, however—if you wear either of these you will be among the favored: 6⅞, 6¾, 6⅞, 7.

We are ready to show new Autumn Derbies and Soft Hats in all the approved shapes and colors. $2.00, $3.00, $4.00, $5.00.

Imported Madras, 25c a Yard.

There has just come to the Imported Wash Goods Department, main floor, West, a great lot of this madras, and we hasten to let you know of it. Some of the most attractive designs we have had this season. Shown in the dainty colors of light blue, light gray and gunmetal. These with contrasting stripes and small checks, both in white and colors—such as pink and white, blue and white, black and white.

As a shirting for men and boys this madras is unsurpassed. As a particularly nice stuff for women's and girls' tub dresses it is unrivalled.

Porch Shades Enough Lower to Warrant Buying for Next Season.

We have two lines to close out for reduced prices—one line of Vudor Porch Shades, the other of Tusculum Porch Shades.

We set the reduced prices at 25 per cent under former low prices, and the reduction makes the investment a good one for next year. Both kinds of shades are very popular. They meet the old-fashioned bamboo shade, and go it several points better.

All these shades have a drop of 8 feet. They are sold in the Fourth Floor, West, Curtain and Drapery Department.

Vudor Porch Shades, Mottled:

4 feet wide, originally $2.00, today $1.50.
6 feet wide, originally $2.75, today $2.05.
8 feet wide, originally $3.50, today $2.60.
10 feet wide, originally $5.00, today $3.75.

Porch Shades, Dark Green:

8 feet wide, originally $3.50, today $2.60.
10 feet wide, originally $5.00, today $3.75.

Tusculum Porch Shades:

8 feet wide, originally $5.00, today $3.90.
10 feet wide, originally $6.75, today $5.00.
12 feet wide, originally $8.00, today $6.50.

Another Shade Proposition.

If the printer should happen to put a "y" in place of an "e" in the head, it would make a decided double en tendre—for this is altogether one of the best propositions we ever offered, i. e.: To make up striped duck Awnings throughout the month of August, using none but best galvanized fixtures, for twenty-five per cent less than regular prices.

Consult our people in the Fourth Floor, West, Awning Department, and choose from any striped awning material we have in stock, let us measure your windows and porches now, and we'll make up your awnings for next year less 25 per cent of original prices.

Powder-Puff Handkerchiefs.

Another feminine fad—that's all. On the same plane with the purse glove and the pocket stocking.

A dainty handkerchief of either plain hemstitched linen or mull with deep lace edge, in the center of which is a tiny pouch containing a powder puff made of fine lambs wool. Thus ladies always have their powder with them and no one the wiser. On sale at Handkerchief Counter, East Store.

Of hemstitched linen, 50c and 75c; of mull, with lace edge, 25c.

Chiffon Veils—1½ Yards Long, 50c.

Different grades, formerly $1.00 and $1.50.

We consider this very special for today, and are quite sure every woman who sees the veils will agree with us.

All colors in plain, in dotted and in fancy figured veils.

Wednesday, August 10, 1904.

The Gazette desires to call the attention of those of its readers who contemplate summer trips to the announcements of the many summer resort hotels published on page 12 of this issue.

It is not at all unlikely that the bulk of the new bond issue may not be needed for several years, but that would not justify the amendment said to have been adopted at a Republican caucus to postpone to January 2, 1907, the date when the bonds shall begin to bear interest. Such a proposition would compel delay in the construction of the filtration plant, whereas no excuse should be given for delay. The work cannot be done too fast so long as it is done well, and ought to be well on to completion by the date mentioned in the amendment. The true policy is to make such provision that funds will be available as fast as needed, and the way to accomplish this is by providing for a serial issue of the bonds. The other proposed amendment, reducing the interest rate to 3½ per cent, ought to be adopted. The city can sell its bonds at par at that rate. The interest rate on the previous issue of filtration bonds was less than 4 per cent, and there is no good reason why the coming issue should bear a higher rate.

Secretary Hay, in his declaration on the rights of neutral nations during war, makes it very plain that Russia is not consistent on the subject of contraband by recalling the fact that during the West African conference in 1884 Russia vigorously dissented from the inclusion of coal amongst articles contraband. Today Russia's attempt to make coal contraband is one of the chief causes of dispute between that government and neutral nations whose ships are engaged in the eastern trade. The United States takes no new ground on the subject of contraband, but Secretary Hay's declaration plainly shows that this government will stand solidly on the position always held, that articles not absolutely contraband of war shall not be so considered unless consigned to one of the parties to the conflict. This will exempt cotton as well as coal, when destined for a non-blockaded port, although Russia has placed both on the proscribed list. In the light of Russia's position at the West African conference of 1884, it is again evident that that government's position is influenced entirely by the need of the moment.

The demand of the Pennsylvania state board of medical examiners for the more thorough education of students of medicine is distinctly reasonable from the standpoint of the student as well as the public. It is pointed out that at the December examinations 40 per cent of the applicants failed to meet the requirements of the state board, and in June of last year 18 per cent failed. Medical colleges utterly fail in their mission if they do not give their pupils the groundwork, at least, necessary for practical work. We cannot expect a graduate to know everything, but since scores of lives are to be entrusted to his keeping, we have a right to expect that he shall have a thorough theoretical knowledge of the science of medicine. And the graduate himself has a right to expect that his diploma will be, to some extent, a guarantee that he has not wasted his time and that he will be able to pass the state examination required before he can begin the practice of his profession. If he has neglected his opportunities and has not secured the necessary qualifications that is his fault, but the faculty of the college should be as able to discover this as the state board.

In the house of commons yesterday, Lord Selborne gave Great Britain's reason for the continued expensive increase in the navy—because other navies are being strengthened. England is ready to stop the expense as soon as other nations agree to such a program, but of this there is no likelihood. The position of Great Britain is such that she must be prepared to protect her interests in all parts of the world, and to do this she must have an overpowering advantage in naval strength. It is an expensive establishment beyond a doubt, but it has saved her from war many times in the past and will probably continue to do so as long as it holds its present pre-eminence. Lord Selborne is an advocate of the submarine boat for coast defense, and says this class of vessel has not reached the limit of development. In fact, the submarine boat is still far from perfection, but in a comparatively short while we may expect it to be one of the most valuable of the modern engines of war. It is necessary to expend large sums in experimental work, but such expenditure is not a waste of money. There can be no development otherwise.

By sending a message under his own signature, announcing that the American legation at Bogota was not stoned and that our charge d'affaires has in no way been molested and is in no danger, Gen. Reyes, the new president of Colombia, has shown a commendable regard for the good opinion of the United States and the world at large. Gen. Reyes begins his term as chief executive of Colombia under rather trying circumstances, but he seems to be far above the average of South American statesmen. Since he was able to assume the office in peace, and even amid the enthusiastic plaudits of the people, it is assumed that he will find it easier to solve the questions the republic faces than if there had been a contest with the retiring executive, as was threatened. During Gen. Reyes' stay in the United States after the secession of Panama, when he was sent to Washington to endeavor to secure the return of Panama to the Colombian federation, he impressed those with whom he came in contact as a fair and capable diplomat. That his mission failed is no fault of his. He learned enough to know that Panama is lost to Colombia forever, and he may reasonably be expected to make the best of the situation by giving the remaining portion of the republic an honest and capable administration. Colombia will gain immensely by the construction of the canal, although she fooled away her chance of being paid handsomely for being improved.

The New York Building Lockout.

It was hoped that after the long war between the employers and the unions in the New York building trades was settled there would be a state of peace in this important group of industries. A great amount of money had been lost in the struggle and a serious check given to business activity. There are signs that if industrial peace could be secured there would be a marked revival of business activity, but it appears that the old struggle in New York is now renewed, the Building Trades Employers' association having locked out all unions belonging to the Building Trades alliance. The ground assigned for this action is persistent violation of the arbitration agreement, which was a feature of the settlement of the last conflict. The idea was to put an end to the practice of walking delegates ordering men to strike upon some particular job. It is alleged that this practice has been begun again. The situation is aggravated by union rivalries. There are two unions of painters, the Amalgamated society and the Brotherhood, and it has been alleged that if the men of one union are employed upon a job, a strike is ordered by the other union and members of affiliated unions are called off. The employers are now retaliating in kind by discharging all unions affiliated with unions going on strike in violation of the arbitration agreement.

While the New York situation looks gloomy, a bright prospect is presented by the news from Indianapolis that arrangements are progressing there for the formation of a great organization of building trades based upon the principle of respect for contracts and the arbitration of disputes. Among the organizations taking part in the movement are the International Bricklayers and Masons, Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Operative Plasterers, Brotherhood of Painters and Decorators, Journeymen Plumbers, Steam and Gas Fitters, International Stationary Engineers, Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and International Hod Carriers and Building Laborers. The movement was started by President Huber of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, but the principles are the same as those which labor leaders of the type of John Mitchell have long favored. Many unions have an honorable record of strict adherence to agreements. Not long ago President Daniel J. Keefe of the International Longshoremen annulled the charters of subordinate unions that went on strike in violation of agreements and sent men to take the place of the strikers. The spread of this spirit of responsibility will remove the principal elements of industrial conflict and will enhance the power and influence of organized labor.

The Crop Report.

This afternoon the report of the department of agriculture on the condition of the crops as of August 1 will be made public. In many respects the August crop report is the most important of the year. The winter wheat harvest has been practically completed, and attention is devoted to spring wheat and corn. The latter has made sufficient progress by that time to enable the experts to approximate the total yield, for it is seldom that any serious damage is sustained by corn in the month of August, and although we frequently hear of damage by frost in September, it is never really serious.

During the past two weeks the greatest interest has centered in the condition of spring wheat. So valuable is advance information on the subject that some of the great Chicago speculators have had experts touring the northwest on automobiles, on horseback and otherwise, making a personal inspection of the fields in the great wheat countries in the Dakotas and Minnesota. The reports made by these experts during the past few days have been responsible for the enormous activity in the grain market and the advance in wheat to $1.03, which was reached yesterday, and is the highest price quoted for the crop. It has happened only twice in the past ten years that the government report has shown improvement in the condition of spring wheat on August 1 as compared with July 1. The June and July reports this year were identical, showing an average condition of 93.4 per cent. The probability is that today's official figures will show some deterioration as compared with July 1. The greatest reported damage from rust, however, has occurred since the beginning of the month, and of this the government report will take no account until the September figures are issued, and then these will embrace the average condition of both spring and winter wheat.

As to the present condition of corn, the weekly bulletins of the weather bureau indicate that much progress has been made in overcoming the backwardness of the crop, which went into the ground about three weeks late. Since August 1, however, there have been reports of the weather being too cool in some sections of the corn belt. Nevertheless, the indications are that the corn crop this year will be the largest ever harvested. The partial failure of the crop in 1901 was due to the damage which occurred between July 1 and August 1, the drop in that month being no less than 27 points. No such calamity has happened this summer, and the expectation is that today's report will show the highest average condition since 1895, which was the most ideal year for corn in the history of the country.

The advance which has taken place in wheat during the past three weeks has not been based wholly upon domestic crop conditions. It is estimated that the European yield will be 200,000,000 bushels smaller than last year, and Broomhall, the English authority, estimates that the world's crop of wheat will be 168,000,000 bushels short of last year. The world's wheat area is so vast and the total product so enormous that the difficulty of collecting reliable statistics is apparent to anyone. Last year's yield for all countries was estimated at nearly 3,250,000,000 bushels, which was the largest ever raised. There is a natural tendency for the per capita consumption to increase, and when, as this year, the shortage is greatest in the exporting countries, the effect upon prices is more pronounced. Still, there is a point beyond which prices cannot go without inducing a substitution of food products.

The Cause of the War.

We have received another letter from Mr. Edward Campbell of Uniontown, arguing at length that the cause of the eastern war was "Russia's refusal to allow Japan to conquer Korea." In support of this contention Mr. Campbell quotes the propositions which were the subject of negotiations between Russia and Japan previous to the outbreak of the war. We do not think the case can be understood unless the circumstances which led up to those negotiations are considered. Much pertinent matter is contained in the correspondence between the American minister at Pekin, the American ambassador at St. Petersburg and the state department at Washington, which will be found in the latest volume of the foreign relations of the United States. The evidence abundantly sustains our contention that the slippery diplomacy of Russia was the cause of the war, but it would take too much space to be given in detail. The underlying principles at stake in this war are the policy of "The Open Door," represented by Japan, and the policy of a Russian trade preserve, closed to the rest of the world, in a country which Russia has always declared to belong, not to her, but to China. Russia's position in Manchuria was like that of England in Egypt, justifiable only by impartial service to the interests of civilization. If England had sought to close Egyptian ports to other nations, crushing out long established commercial interests and using Turkish sovereignty as a pretext for acts violating international comity, then we should have had a situation like that which Russia created in Manchuria. England pursued a policy which reconciled other nations to her rule. Russia pursued a policy which gave just grievance to the United States and other nations and made war inevitable in view of the way in which vital interests of Japan were involved.

It is not often that the president of the United States receives a delegation of distinguished gentlemen clad in waist belts and tattoo marks. But President Roosevelt had that pleasure yesterday when the Igorrotos were in Washington.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Upon the Rialto it is surprising to notice the fading of the wrinkles and other traces of hard work on the face of the character actress. Not that the duties of the profession are not as exacting as in the seasons gone by, but rapid strides have been made in the art of make-up both on and off the stage and now it is hard to detect an Irish washerwoman or a fidgeting maiden lady with a sausage curl in the bright, smiling sweet-faced miss of the Rialto on a sunny afternoon. Like the dew-kissed peach radiating in the morning sun, the bloom of youth has touched the careworn and the dimpled cheek alike. DeLeon's fountain of the eternal puerile state has been discovered hiding in a cosmetic shop.

This afternoon in front of the Knickerbocker theater building seven of the members of one of Kirk Lasheile's big attractions stood waiting for a car. It was a sight that even the constant habitue of the most calloused thoroughfare in the world—Broadway—could not but admire. It was but a case of plain faces made attractive, and truly wonders had been accomplished. Singly each of the seven was a masterpiece. Collectively it was a travesty on womanhood, for the same rose tint blush started at the same identical spot and faded away in the lily white of the lower jaw and neck. The casual observer could but murmur "stunning;" the man who stepped, smiled knowingly at the deceit. To use the make-up so, is said by those who know, to be the greatest error woman can commit because the artificial appearance created gives others the impression that the woman is artificial in all her ways.

What Milady in Society Does.

The swell members of the 400 now demand of their maids that the latter shall be expert in this part of their work, for it is important that a woman who is up until 2 o'clock morning after morning, to start in at noon the same day to dress for another succession of engagements, shall be aided to look fresh. Nature alone cannot stand any such strain. One well-known dealer in women's cosmetics said this afternoon that a society woman's dressing table now has upon it as many things as were used in the days of Queen Anne and the epoch of powder and patches. But unlike the grand dames of those days, these of the present have but slight evidence of make-up and if a touch of rouge has been put on the cheeks and the eyebrows darkened, no one is any the wiser, unless it is another expert in the use of the brush and pencil.

Took a "Slide" in the Waldorf.

Five well-known New York madames who had dropped into the city for a short shopping excursion gave a mighty shrug of their handsomely gowned shoulders when they stepped from an elevator leading from one of the upper floor private dining rooms. Just as the elevator boy started from the second floor he seemed unable to control his car and it slid rapidly down, landing in the basement with a bump that threw them off their feet. The chandelier broke from the ceiling and crashed down on a man with a silk opera hat. The hat shut like an accordion. Neither he or any of the passengers were hurt and with the aid of bell boys they scrambled to their feet and went to the lounging room, where they told the story of their experience.

Races Across Continent for Bride.

Separation from his sweetheart for more than a year has been too much for William Hancock, a young railroad manager of Los Angeles, Cal., and tonight he is hurrying across the continent to this city to wed Miss Minna Grace Roper, also of Los Angeles, and now staying with friends in Harlem. Miss Roper is a vocal teacher and singer, known in the west, and who came east last fall to complete her musical education. It had not been expected by the young couple that the trip would entail such a length separation, and the young man began to grow impatient. Finally he wrote, asking her if she would object to their being married here. The young woman gave her consent and Mr. Hancock immediately left his home for the east. The young couple are of wealthy and influential families on the Pacific coast, and both have many friends in the east.

Brought in Castaways of the Sea.

Nine sailors, the mate, two pigs and a duck of the Philip Melson, who were wrecked and rescued in the Bahamas, were brought to port by the Hamburg-American steamship Athos. Their vessel was wrecked on a reef on July 24, and the rescued men lived the primitive life of Robinson Crusoe upon a little key at the southern end of the Bahamas. A lone negro inhabited the island and he finally rowed 50 miles to the nearest port from whence in a few days a small schooner arrived and took them to the steamship. Immigration officials would not permit the strangers to land, so they were taken to Ellis Island. The mate and seven of the men, who are Russians, were taken to the Russian consul, who supplied them with passage home. The other men are still at Ellis Island.

Babel Flats Had a Fire.

The odor of burnt feathers that hung about Chinatown all day overshadowed the smell of incense in the joss house and the odor of chop suey. There had been a fire in "Babel flats." This is a four-story building and bears the name because representatives of many nations live in it. On the first floor is a Chinese merchandise store; on the second five two Chinese families; on the third even the census taker does not know how many Italians, Poles, negroes and Swedes live. The fourth floor has a colony of Sicilians and Americans and a single Japanese waiter.

The cry of fire was followed by a wild stampede. All set up yells for assistance in their various languages and dialects and the noise they made routed out all Chinatown. There were many heroic rescues even before the firemen arrived, for the majority of those in the flats forgot stairs were built for use and remained shouting in the windows until taken down to the excited crowd below by the firemen and their scaling ladders. A feather bed was burnt.

The Quiet Observer

By ERASMUS WILSON.

There were women in those days—women who could do and who would dare.

And there are women in these days who dare, and who do, not the things their mothers did, but the things that come to their hands to be done, as do all things that are well worth doing.

Just here some of you may call a halt long enough to say that really great or even really useful people do not wait for things to come their way, but go out and fetch them.

This is a popular notion, but none the less erroneous.

Things that are fetched are apt to be untimely, therefore, unfit and unprofitable, as is the green apple that is fetched from the twig on which it is ripening.

Timely things, like ripe fruits, and fitly spoken words, are most wholesome, therefore most useful and most helpful.

* * * * *

By way of backing up your contention that we should go forth and fetch things, suppose you cite a few instances in which great and good men and women have fetched anything out of season that was worth while.

Men and women have lived before their time, as it were, and fetched things which have proven worth while, but not until the proper season came around which, in many instances, was long after those who had fetched them were dead, and forgotten, maybe.

Such as these have a place in the great system of life, and a place not altogether unworthy, since they point the way to the pioneers in thought, and to those who make preliminary surveys of new fields and untried ways. But during their lives they receive abuse instead of praise, and are often made to suffer for daring to venture beyond the meters and bounds defined by popular notion.

Galileo may be cited as one who thus suffered, and he was not alone, for thousands were persecuted because of holding to notions concerning science and religion different from those that were popular at the time.

* * * * *

The fate of those who attempt to fetch things before they are due and in order is not to be envied, even if honors shall gather about their names in later times.

However, if one is built that way and cannot resist the impulse to dig deeply after hidden mysteries, and to adventure far into the dark country in search of newer things, then let them, for such is their mission, and they may rest assured that they will receive the penalty for their temerity while they live, and possibly some of the glory after death.

In daring to do things for which they are not fitted men and women are certain to fail, and almost certain to lead others to failure. And it seems to be a fact that their attempts to do unfit things, or to do things for which they are not fitted, leads not only to failure, but to shame or disgrace.

Have you ever read the story of the beautiful and witty Fanny Braddock, as told by Oliver Goldsmith in his life of Beau Nash? It is more than a story, it is a tragedy.

* * * * *

Her Irish wit and beauty, together with a large fortune, placed her in the best society of her day.

Anxious to relieve distress she was lavish beyond measure, and by reason of this and her brilliancy she at the age of 19, was surrounded by lovers. Among them was a "good natured man" who easily became her favorite by reason of that very quality. This "good natured man" scattered his fortune and was thrown into prison for debt; Fanny Braddock, then, out of the goodness of her heart, resolved to discharge his debts and release him from prison. She did so, but it was the loss of her own fortune, and with the loss of her fortune the loss of rank and esteem followed. Her friend Nash then persuaded her to go to Bath, where she for a while still moved in the best circles, but a melancholy soon settled upon her—a melancholy that was never lifted.

A designing woman, who kept fashionable gambling rooms, soon, by her loans of money and flattery, gained an ascendency over the beauty, simplicity and artlessness of the deserted girl. Here, according to Goldsmith, she became known as Sylvia, and without "ever transgressing the laws of virtue" she entirely lost her reputation. The slights of the rich she now yielded to with sullen reluciance; and when matters grew from bad to worse, her friend Nash persuaded her to flee from this Dame Lindsey. For want of elegancies of dress she lived a lonely and deserted life until she accepted a position as governess in the family of one Wood.

While he and part of his household were absent in London, she made the fatal resolution to leave a life in which she now found no comfort, and sitting down by a dining room window she wrote upon a pane:

"O death! thou pleasing end of human woe,
Thou cure for life! thou greatest good below;
Still mayst thou fly the coward and the slave,
And thy soft slumber only bless the brave."

After this she ordered supper to be ready in the little library where she spent the hours before bedtime in playing with two of Wood's children. She then bid her old servant good night and went to bed as usual. By and by, she quitted it and dressed herself in clean linen and white garments, preparing a pink silk girdle to end her misery. Having done this she sat down and read Ariosto, for she left the book open at the story of Olympia, in the "Orlando Furioso"—the story, where, by the pity and ingratitude of her bosom friend, she was left to the mercy of an unpitying world. This armed her for her tragical ending of life, an end that shows virtue without prudence unable to make living at least a happy affair.

When the news of her suicide reached her brother, Edward Braddock, he is said to have remarked: "Poor Fanny, I always thought she would play till she would be forced to 'tie herself up.'"

It is singular that a man who uttered these unfeeling words should, 30 years after, by obstinacy and imprudence, lead an army to defeat and disaster. Fanny Braddock was buried in her father's grave; her brother was buried in the middle of the highway—the highway by "Nemacolin's Path"—in the southern part of Fayette county; buried "darkly at dead of night," the services being conducted by the young Virginia captain, George Washington, who had counseled him to avoid the disaster that came to him and to his army.

And who will say which life was the more pathetic?

The Most Youthful Colonel.

Charles M. Kurtz, assistant commissioner of the St. Louis world's fair, has been colonel since he was about a week old. He was born in New Castle, Pa., while the civil war was in progress. Next day Gen. McComb of that city, a lifelong friend of Gov. Curtin, Pennsylvania's war governor, wrote asking that "my friend, Charles M. Kurtz," be appointed a colonel on the governor's staff. Mr. Curtin naturally supposed that the person referred to was a man of some prominence, so he forwarded the commission at once.—Kansas City Journal.

From Mouths of Babes

THE STROLLER.

Ethel is three years old, and her mother keeps a boarding house. The other day, when soup was served for dinner, Ethel tasted it from the edge of her spoon, and then pushed the dish away. Pulling at her mother's dress the little miss whispered:

"Dis soup ain't bery dood, mamma; better div it to the boarders."

Johnny's mother was the biggest talker in the square and Johnny knew it. The other day the little fellow went over to the home of his best friend, next door, to play. In spite of his mother's warning not to leave the steps of his own home. His father brought him home.

"John," he said, "didn't you hear your mother tell you to stay at home this evening?"

Jonnny squirmed and dug his toes in the sand, then admitted:

"Yes, but she says so much! How was I to know?"

At Donald's house they had a new furnace, and the seven-year-old boy was highly interested. He studied out how to attend to the heater, and in a few days could coal up, shut off drafts, etc. One night his mother went to the basement to fix the furnace for the night, but she didn't know how to shut off the draft. Going to the foot of the stairs, she called to the little fellow:

"Donald, tell mamma how to shut off the draft of the furnace, please."

In a second came the little voice from the nursery:

"The directions are all on the door; read 'em, and find out; that's the way I learned."

Anna and Helen were being put to bed. Anna had said her prayers and climbed into the little cot, but Helen lingered. Her prayer was a long one, and Anna grew impatient.

"Dear Lord," said the little miss, "please bless papa and mamma and the baby, and my teachers and Manda—"

Anna could not stand it any longer. Leaning over the edge of the bed, she gave the little figure a vigorous shake, and said:

"Jes' tell God to bless everybody and come on to bed."

After Jennie said her prayer, "Now I lay me," each night, she was permitted to add her own little prayer, to say whatever she choose. The other night, after praying for the entire family, her little playmates, and the family kitten, she said, earnestly:

"Dear God, enjoy yourself up in Heaven, jes' as much as you can, and let all the angels have a good time—amen."

Beatrice is a youngster of five whose hobby is running to the neighbors to play, without the formality of asking permission. Not long ago the notion struck her, but unfortunately her grandmother was sitting on the veranda. She made several attempts to get across the street, only to be warned to return. Finally she lost patience, and going up to the old lady, said:

"Grandma, why don't you go into the house and 'tend to your knitting?"

It was the same wise little girl—whose father is a deacon, by the way—who started to hold church in the parlor on a recent Sunday afternoon. She made a "pulpit" of a chair, got down the big family Bible, sang a verse, "read" the text, then passed the hat. But there was "nothing doing" in the collection. Beatrice returned to the "pulpit," looked sagely at the Book for a moment, then exclaimed:

"Oh, what's the use of preaching! There's no money in this crowd."

WHERE NERVES ARE UNKNOWN.

Happy Japanese Women Are Free from the Worries of Western Civilization.

The women of Japan, in contrast to their occidental sisters, have long been noted for their perfect poise and self-possession. Their placidity under what would ordinarily be considered trying circumstances has surprised American tourists. Patent medicines guaranteed to cure nervousness in its many forms have little sale in Japan. The meaning of the term "nervous prostration" is unknown. Japanese physicians are rarely rich, says Robert Webster Jones in the Housekeeper.

An explanation of this happy state of affairs has been made by a returned traveler. "To begin with," says he, "there is never any change in fashions, so the Japanese woman has no worries at all on that score. Then, housekeeping is greatly simplified, so the Japanese housekeeper is hurt by one of the Jars and frets that rag the nerves and prematurely age her western sister. The Japanese house has no draperies, no dust traps in the shape of superfluous ornaments. People all put off their shoes on entering the house, so no mud and dirt are brought in. Japanese women have no heartburnings over euchre prizes and bridge stakes. They never have to compose club papers on subjects concerning which they know nothing. They never sit up nights planning how they may outshine their rivals in dress at some social affair. They do not bother their brains with schemes for marrying their daughters to rich foreigners. They never have to give eight-course dinners with two-course pocketbooks. They live simple, happy, peaceful domestic lives, and live them long."

While we should be sorry to see American women restrict their lives to the narrow sphere of the Japanese, there is no doubt that three-fourths of their nervous worry is caused by "trying to do too much." Simplicity is the keynote of sanity and health, and American men as well as women may well profit by the example of the happy Japanese.

Death to Mother-in-Law Joke.

In the current news of the week appears this item: "The bond of the prisoner for the sum of $15,000 was accepted. The bond was signed by the mother-in-law of the prisoner and the mother-in-law of his son." Another phase of the mother-in-law joke and of a character to make the perpetrator of the average jest somewhat ashamed of his inconsiderate jibes. To the truism, "A boy's best friend is his mother," may be added the equally axiomatic observation that a man's second best friend, at least, is his mother-in-law—with his wife and his mother tied for first place—and that not infrequently far beyond his deserts.—Cincinnati Times Star.

The Death Roll

Frederick E. Morgan.

Frederick E. Morgan, aged 44, an ex-common councilman from the Thirteenth ward, Allegheny, died at Cambridge Springs yesterday afternoon. Mr. Morgan was born in London, England, in May, 1860, and came to this country when he was 14 years old. He secured employment in Allegheny as a butcher's boy and was engaged in the meat business on the North Side until last January, when he moved with his family to Cambridge Springs on account of his health and intended to go into the meat business there. He was manager for Swift & Co. in Allegheny for several years, and was in the employ of the Pittsburgh Provision and Packing Company and also had a meat stall in the Allegheny market for several years. He represented the Thirteenth ward in common council from April 1, 1901, to April 7, 1903. He was married in 1890 to Miss Annie McLuckin of Allegheny. She and two children survive him. Mr. Morgan was a Mason, a Knight Templar and a Shriner.

Benton, rector of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, conducted the services, which were held at Mr. Osburn's late residence, Bank and Graham streets. The interment was made in the Sewickley cemetery, but it is probable the body will be removed later to Virginia, the birthplace of the deceased. The honorary pallbearers were: J. C. McCombs, W. W. Scott, James H. Willock, Judge J. W. Over, D. C. Herbst and G. B. Barrett. The Sewickley police force acted as the active pallbearers of the remains.

PERSONALS

John B. Saunders of Lancaster, O., connected with the Reform school at that place, says that two new buildings are being erected which, when completed, will greatly improve the school property. In speaking of the effects of juvenile courts in large cities, Mr. Saunders said that it caused more boys to be sent to the reform school than before those tribunals were in existence. He said one was organized in Cleveland about two years ago. At first most of those brought before the court were placed on probation. In time many of them reappeared and they were sent to the reform school, which has had an increase of 700 inmates within the last two years. There are over 900 prisoners in the reform school at present, the largest in the history of the institution.

The tube manufacturers, who held a business conference in Pittsburgh, closed their deliberations yesterday by holding a banquet at the Lincoln last evening at 5 o'clock. About 30 were present.

Mrs. Bridget Tolan of County Mayo, Ireland, left Pittsburgh last night for her home, after spending one year visiting relatives and friends in this country. Her pleasure trip was an hazardous undertaking, as she is over 86 years of age. When she came to the United States a year ago she went to her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Dempster of Frostburg, Md. Two weeks ago she went to visit another married daughter in Minneapolis. Last Friday she returned to Frostburg and yesterday came to Pittsburgh to see some friends. About a dozen accompanied Mrs. Tolan to New York, from where she will sail Friday.

SENATOR OF TWO REPUBLICS DEAD

George Graham Vest Passes Away—His Friendship With Late M. S. Quay.

SKETCH OF A FINE CAREER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9.—Former United States Senator George Graham Vest died at Sweet Springs, Mo., today. He had been in poor health for the past three days that the end came without a struggle. At the bedside were his wife, Dr. Jarvis, the family physician, Senator Vest's son, Alexander, his daughter, Mrs. George P. B. Johnson, and her husband, and Mrs. Thompson, a niece of Mrs. Vest. The remains were brought here this evening in the private car of Mr. A. A. Allen, vice president and general manager of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad, for interment.

With the death of Senator Vest there passed away a notable figure in national politics, notable if for no other reason, because he had been a senator of both the confederate states and the United States of America. He was the last member of the confederate government to sit in the United States senate. He was the last of the great lawyers of the middle western states that lay on the borderland between the north and south, and he was one of the most brilliant debaters heard in the senate chamber since the days of Calhoun, Clay and Webster.

Senator of Two Republics.

Within the last year George G. Vest described himself as "A Senator from Two Republics," referring to the four years he had spent in the confederate congress and his 24 years in the American senate. He was among the last of the giants of senatorial ship with whom at different times he was associated in official life—Conkling, Blaine, Bayard, Thurman, Voorhees, Ingalls, Hamlin, Vance and Davis.

The senator was born in Frankfort, Ky., on December 8, 1830, and was graduated from Center college, Danville, Ky., in 1848, and from the law department of Transylvania college, at Lexington, in 1853. He married Miss Sallie Shelby, and in a lumbering vehicle they drove to Missouri, where the young lawyer began the practice of law and soon entered the legislature at Neosho, Jefferson City, the regular capital of the state, then being in control of the federal forces. Then began Mr. Vest's connection with the confederate government. He was sent to the house at Richmond as a representative of Missouri—or, at least, of that section of the state which desired to link its forces with secession from the union.

Served in Confederate Congress.

At Richmond Mr. Vest served in both branches of the confederate congress. After the war Mr. Vest returned to Missouri and formed a partnership with Col. John S. Phillips, who had commanded a union regiment. Gen. Francis M. Cockrell, who had commanded a confederate brigade and who was Mr. Vest's colleague in the United States senate, associated himself in law practice with Col. Thomas P. Crittenden, who, like Vest's partner, Phillips, had been a colonel in the union army.

Mr. Vest's active participation in several state campaigns, beginning in opposition to the "Granger" movement in 1874, culminated in his election to the United States senate in 1879.

Quay Honored His Scruples.

One of the most remarkable friendships ever formed in congress was that between Vest and Quay of Pennsylvania. They esteemed each other's qualities of personal character, and between them there was a strong intellectual sympathy. Nevertheless Vest, because of his conviction as to constitutional law, found that he could not vote for the admission of Quay to the senate upon the appointment of Gov. Stone.

The single vote of Vest would have seated Quay and would have saved him the long, severe struggle which resulted in his election by the legislature. Before the roll was called Vest told Quay in the senate cloakroom that his vote would be adverse. He made the statement with tears in his eyes. Quay, who knew that the loss of this one vote would bar him temporarily from the senate, shook Vest warmly by the hand and declared that he respected and loved his Missouri Democratic friend as much as ever.

In the United States senate he was regarded with veneration, and whenever he arose to speak every member hurried to his place to listen.

He lived simply and died a poor man.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO., Aug. 9.—Gov. Dockery today issued a proclamation on the death of Senator Vest. The committee appointed to attend the funeral, as representatives of the state, is composed of 100 men prominent in all walks of life, and is headed by Senators F. M. Cockrell and William J. Stone.

TO DEMAND BAIL BOND.

Attorney Ralph C. Tannehill Will be Asked to Forfeit $500—Secured Release of Three Prisoners.

District Attorney Stewart will ask the court Saturday to direct Attorney Ralph C. Tannehill to forfeit the bond of $500 given to secure the presence of Walter Ross and Morris and Alexander Miller, who were arrested July 23 and failed to appear for a hearing. Attorney Tannehill alleges he is not at fault and should not be compelled to forfeit the bond.

The men were to have a hearing July 26. Attorney Tannehill alleges the men were present on that day and that F. A. Filson, a detective in a downtown department store, who was to appear against the men, asked Magistrate Stewart to continue the case for several days. This was done and the prisoners did not appear when the case was called a second time. As the case was continued by the prosecution Attorney Tannehill does not think he was responsible for prisoners' appearance after that.

The attorney informed Magistrate Stewart he was no longer bondsman for the men and also notified Magistrate Kirby, who issued the bail bond. City Solicitor Rodgers and Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide think Attorney Tannehill is responsible. Morris Miller was arrested by Detective Filson while picking pockets in the department store. Miller told Filson he had a brother and friend in Allegheny and Detectives Elmore and Siefert arrested them in that city.

There were no charges against these two men, but they were locked up pending an investigation. It is believed the three men were professional pickpockets.

One of Braddock's Best Known Men Predicted His Death Accurately

Philip Glasser.

Philip Glasser, aged 58 years, a prominent German resident of Braddock and for 15 years proprietor of the Hotel Glasser in that borough, died yesterday morning from cancer of the stomach. Specialists had pronounced his malady incurable. He tried at several Pittsburgh hospitals to secure an operation, but the surgeons refused, knowing he would die under the operation. He continued to live, however, long past the time predicted for his death. He predicted his own death with accuracy. Mr. Glasser was born near Mannheim, on the Rhine, 58 years ago, and came to this country when he was 16 years old. His parents located in Ohio on a farm and he became a stock raiser.

He went to Braddock 18 years ago. He was a member of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, the Knights of St. George and the Turners. He was twice married and he is survived by his second wife and these children: Theodore, of Steubenville; Rev. Joseph Lhubacher, of Braddock; George and Philip, Jr., at home. The latter is the only child of the second wife.

Mammoth Birthday Party In Memory of a Dead Child

Pretty Jean Corcoran would have been 12 years old today, had she lived. Her birthday will be celebrated as if she were alive, although the entertainment will be on a grander scale. Little Jean died last winter of diphtheria, after two days' illness, while visiting with her parents in Canada. Previous birthdays of Jean were made notable by the kind-hearted child gathering in all her young friends, and especially those whose lot in life were not as pleasant as hers. In fact, her birthday was a red-letter occasion for all the little ones, regardless of caste, who lived in Jean's neighborhood. Jean's father, James G. Corcoran, president of the James G. Corcoran Company, building contractors, has determined that today shall be appropriately celebrated in memory of the child he has loved and lost. To this end he notified Father Lynch, in charge of St Paul's Roman Catholic orphan asylum, that he will provide all the accessories of a birthday party at the asylum, to which the hundreds of little inmates are invited. The parents of Jean will not attend, their sorrow being too new, but several members of the Corcoran family will be present.

ON TICKET FOR FINISH FIGHT

So Declares Dr. Chandler in Accepting Nomination of Delaware Regular Republicans.

NO CONCESSIONS TO ADDICKS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

DOVER, DEL., Aug. 9.—Dr. Joseph H. Chandler, when nominated for governor of Delaware by the "regular" Republican convention today, created a profound stir by taking the platform and declaring that he accepted the nomination under the sole consideration that he would enter the fight to the end and stay on the ticket until November.

"I would rather suffer honest defeat," he declared, "than be pulled off the ticket that somebody else might be substituted."

This was received with deafening cheers from the Dupont men who had won a victory over the Higgins forces in nominating Chandler. The "regulars," who composed today's convention, are utterly outnumbered by the "union" or Addicks Republicans, and when in recent years they have made out a ticket it has always been with the understanding that a truce would be patched up later, when both Republican factions would agree to trade and substitute the nominees, making one ticket to meet the united Democrats.

Many of the Dupont delegates, after the completion of the state ticket today, thinking they had won a victory against any alliance with Addicks or Addicks Republicans, left for their homes.

The Higgins men, who were more conciliatory to the Addicks Republicans and who desire one state ticket even at a sacrifice, after many of the delegates had left, got through a resolution empowering the state central committee to make any changes upon the ticket named today which in their judgment is necessary to bring about the success of the whole Republican ticket in Delaware. The ticket was completed as follows:

Presidential electors, Thomas H. Savey of New Castle; Manlove Hayes of Kent, and Dr. William P. Orr of Sussex; governor, Dr. Joseph H. Chandler; lieutenant governor, Samuel H. H. Derby; congressman, Horance G. Knowles; attorney-general, Robert H. Richards; insurance commissioner, Charles H. Maull; treasurer, Thomas N. Rawlins, auditor of accounts, George H. Dick.

The platform indorsed Roosevelt, and demands the inforcement of the vigorous Delaware laws against bribery.

It is not considered possible that the "union" Republicans will indorse the nomination of Dr. Chandler for governor, although they may not object to Knowles for congress, or to Richards for attorney general.

HELD FOR COURT.

Secretary of Painters' Union Is Charged With Embezzlement.

W. T. Yerkes of Etna, secretary of Union 765, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, was held for court yesterday by Alderman Toole, on a charge of embezzlement. The officials of the union claim he is short in his accounts of over $150.

The shortage was first reported to the district council of the painters last November. After the books were audited an information was made against Yerkes. He was not arrested until Monday. Yerkes was held for court under a $500 bail, his father going on his bond.

Wilkinsburg Lads Run Away.

Alexander T. Wilson of Wilkinsburg last night asked the Allegheny police to make a search of the city for his son, George, aged 11 years, and Harry and Edward Wessell, aged 13 and 8, respectively. The lads left home on Monday morning and nothing has been heard of them since.

LORD SELBORNE DEFENDS BRITISH NAVAL PROGRAM

No Possibility Now of Limiting Building of Warships by Agreement With Other Nations.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Replying to criticism of the naval expenditure, in the house of lords today, Lord Selborne, first lord of the admiralty, warmly defended the outlay. He said it was more important now than ever before that British battleships especially should be of the largest and best type.

Referring to submarine boats, Lord Selborne said their value for defensive purposes had been abundantly proved. They were a great addition to the national strength. He did not believe submarine boats have reached their limit of improvement or usefulness. The lessons from the war in the far east were the importance of the personnel, the necessity for having a margin of strength, and the fact that without battleships no power could hold or win command of the sea.

Lord Selborne said the offer of Lord Goschen made when he was first lord of the admiralty that, if other nations would agree to diminish their rate of shipbuilding, Great Britain would not be slow to join the movement had not been withdrawn, but the conditions now were more complicated. A few years ago it would have sufficed if France and Great Britain had agreed to diminish their shipbuilding, but now there were almost half a dozen great naval powers, and Great Britain and France must consider the expenditure of other powers. The two-power standard was convenient as regards battleships, but had never had its application to cruisers or torpedo boats.

ELKS' BAND CONCERT.

Allegheny Lodge Entertains Thousands With Popular Music in East Park.

With their own band as the attraction, the Allegheny Elks last night drew thousands to East park to enjoy the band concert given on the Cedar avenue veranda of the big club house. In the parks, upon which the horse fares, Director McIlvain had placed benches for the accommodation of the public. The members of the lodge held an informal reception for their friends, and hundreds were shown through the handsomely furnished building.

A free concert will be held in Riverview park on Friday night. The report that there would be a concert in West park tonight was corrected last night by Director McIlvain.

CHOICE BETWEEN FIRE AND GERMS

Water Famine Causes Citizens of Ridgway to Risk the Dreaded Bacillus.

FEAR OF TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

By JOHN P. COWAN.
(Staff Correspondent.)
[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

RIDGWAY, PA., Aug. 9.—A water famine has been publicly proclaimed by the town council of Ridgway. The source of the regular supply has become exhausted, and to guard against fire, water is being pumped from oil wells to maintain the required volume in the borough reservoir. This water is said to be contaminated, and the danger of typhoid fever epidemic is one of the predicaments that faces the municipal lawmakers of Ridgway.

Last night the councilmen were summarily called upon to choose the lesser of the two impending evils. The mains were empty and there was dread of fire. Gallagher run, which supplies the borough water works, was dry. Only the wells remained, and they were declared to be filled with typhoid fever germs. Council deliberated long, and late in the night decided that the fear of epidemic was less hazardous than fire. The murky water from the wells was turned into the reservoir, and this morning the avenging bacillus was turned loose upon the populace of Ridgway.

Last year's fatal epidemic of typhoid fever, caused by bad water supply, was recalled and created the greatest alarm when council's action was learned. Then lest no unsuspecting householder should imbibe the deadly germs, big posters were printed and this morning were distributed throughout the precincts furnished with typhoid water.

The circular is unique, and in circus type calls attention to the water famine, insisting that all persons shall desist from using borough water for drinking and domestic purposes unless it shall be boiled for at least 30 minutes. There was a big rush for filters, but these do not receive the official sanction of the borough authorities.

The outlook is not encouraging. There has been little rain in Elk county during the last month and the rainmakers have no immediate prospects of any considerable rainfall being in sight. If the wells go dry conditions will be aggravated to a degree that will be the cause of as much uneasiness as the presence of the dangerous bacillus. A meeting of the citizens probably will be called to devise a plan for securing water from a stream at a greater distance from the town. The present water works plant cost $40,000.

MAYOR STILL RELUCTANT TO BE THE CITY CHAIRMAN

Citizens Party Leader Murry A. Verner Urging Him to Come to Citizens Party's Rescue.

Mayor Hays could not make up his mind yesterday whether or not to accept the chairmanship of the Citizens party's city committee. He reiterated his opinion that the chairman ought not be an officeholder, but he admitted that it would be hard to find any prominent private citizen willing to accept the place.

Murry A. Verner, who has succeeded Thomas S. Bigelow as the unofficial leader of the Citizens party, said he hoped to be able to induce the mayor to accept the city chairmanship, and Director Bigelow will also have a talk with the mayor and urge him to take the place.

The county commissioners will not discontinue their method of bookkeeping, although they admit that, as it was explained in The Gazette yesterday, it results in disfranchising many citizens. Compared with the number of property owners who do not object to the system, it was said at the commissioners' office, the number of disfranchised is small. They are usually men of moderate means and cannot afford to go into court to test the commissioners' right to keep them from voting. The custom followed by the Allegheny county commissioners is hoary with age, too, and that lends it respectability. Although in Philadelphia and most of the other counties of the state the personal and property taxes are kept separate, they will continue to be lumped together in Allegheny county, it was said, until the courts order a change.

The Nineteenth ward Republicans have organized a marching club with 100 members. The temporary officers of the club are William Volmer, president; Herbert Weaver, secretary, and John Riley, treasurer.

CATARRH OF STOMACH THREATENED HER LIFE.

Pe-ru-na Promptly Restored Her to Health and Beauty.

A Heavy Bloating Feeling of the Stomach Heartburn, and a Belching Up of Gas, Entirely Done Away With.

MISS SADIE BRUNELL.

MISS SADIE BRUNELL, member of the Benevolent Sewing Circle, 278 Pearl St., Buffalo, N. Y., writes:

"I wish to express my appreciation of Peruna. I was a great sufferer from catarrh of the stomach and was treated by several physicians, but with little relief. Finally Peruna was recommended to me by a friend, and soon after beginning to take the medicine I experienced much relief and at the end of five months I was entirely cured. I had suffered with heartburn at times, also sour stomach, and often after eating my stomach felt heavy and I belched up gas. My stomach was bloated and I could not bear tight clothes around my waist. It is over a year since I discontinued taking Peruna for my trouble, and I am able to eat anything I desire without experiencing any inconvenience, and I do not hesitate to say that I am entirely cured."—Miss Sadie Brunell.

The Bane of Her Life Was Stomach Trouble.

Miss Getrude Pogue, 1407 Central Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio, Secretary Social Economics Club, writes:

"Stomach trouble has been the bane of my existence for a good many years. I tried a number of remedies for dyspepsia and indigestion, thinking that was the trouble, but nothing helped me until I took the right medicine for the right trouble. I was suffering with catarrh of the stomach and did not know it. Peruna took hold of the seat of the trouble and soon exterminated it from my system. I have a splendid appetite now, my food does not distress me and I am growing fleshier. I have a look of health which I have not had for years." Miss Gertrude Pogue.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh. There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years. Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any drugs of a narcotic nature.

Connellsville and New Haven Fire Department, Who Are Entertaining the Delegates at the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's Convention.

LADDIES CHOOSE DONORA FOR NEXT CONVENTION

Business Transacted by Firemen at Connellsville — Business Men's Parade at Warren.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Aug. 9.—The eleventh annual convention of the Western Pennsylvania Firemen's association was called to order at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Connellsville theater by John R. Musser, president. Charles F. Engle of McKees Rocks and Michael Kelley were appointed sergeant-at-arms, after which the convention was formally opened by the Rev. W. V. Barnhart, pastor of the United Brethren church, with prayer. Edwin C. Higbee, borough solicitor, delivered the address of welcome. President John R. Musser read his address, which referred impressively to the deaths of three well-known fire chiefs—Charles B. Stillwagon, Connellsville; Joseph Reuting, Rochester, and John F. Mitinger, Greensburg. Dr. W. B. Blackburn of Latrobe was appointed a delegate to the National Firemen's association convention in St. Louis, August 22 and 23. W. J. Perry of Greensburg, W. J. Rosebom of McKeesport and Dr. W. W. Blackburn of Latrobe were named to draft resolutions of respect upon the deaths of all members of the association. The following nominations for officers of the association for the coming year were made: For president, Charles F. Engel, McKees Rocks, and B. F. Hough, Wilmerding; for vice president, George Washington Deeds, Ligonier; George S. Wier, Sharpsburg; John W. Lower, Braddock, and Elijah Katz, Jeannette; for re-election as secretary, William H. Sharrah, McKees Rocks; for treasurer, James H. Steel, Wilkinsburg. Donora was chosen as the place for the next annual meeting. President John R. Musser was unanimously chosen delegate to the Erie state convention in October. The fighting of fire was discussed at length and general feeling prevailed that no water should be thrown on the flames when a wise use of chemicals could be made. The election of officers will occur tomorrow. Departments from every section in Western Pennsylvania have been arriving all day. Amusements of every description have been provided.

MARTIN A. COYNE,
Chief of the Connellsville Fire Department.

WARREN, PA., Aug. 9.—The second day of the big firemen's carnival and convention brought thousands of visitors to Warren. A business men's parade was a feature of the day. Nearly 1,000 business and professional men, headed by Mayor Pierce, the council and several bands paraded the principal streets, the pageant terminating at the "Pike," where the carnival is in progress. The convention proper of the Northwestern Firemen's association will commence tomorrow afternoon with a business session, followed by a banquet in the evening.

Couple Acted Strangely.

The Rev. Z. M. Silbaugh of 1809 Sherman avenue, Allegheny, yesterday charged Thomas Caywood and wife with malicious mischief. The defendants rented a room in Mr. Silbaugh's home and after living there for nine weeks left last Saturday before going it is alleged, they smeared shoe blacking and lodine on the doors, mirrors and walls and practically wrecked the room. A hearing will be held today.

SITES INSPECTED FOR NAVAL TRAINING SCHOOL

Committee Appointed by the President Visits Erie—W. L. Scott's Heirs Offer Ground.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ERIE, PA., Aug. 9.—The committee appointed by President Roosevelt to select a location for a naval training station on the great lakes inspected the sites at this port today. The committee is composed of Capt. W. H. Reeder, U. S. N.; William M. Bradley, Portland, Me.; H. M. Waite, Lexington, Ky., and R. H. Moss, Washington, late private secretary to Attorney General Moody.

By an act of congress the president is empowered to select the site for the station and to expend on its purchase $250,000. The heirs of the late Hon. W. L. Scott offer the once celebrated "Algeria Stock Farm, which includes the famous summer resort of long ago, 'Massassauga Point,' at the head of Erie's landlocked harbor. A more ideally perfect location could not be found for a naval school.

CORNER STONE IS LAID FOR MASONIC TEMPLE

State Grand Lodge Officers Visit New Castle and Participate in Ceremonies.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Aug. 9.—The corner stone of the new $50,000 Masonic temple was laid at noon today by District Deputy Grand Master Walter D. Clark acting as grand master under dispensation from Right Worshipful Grand Master James W. Brown of Pittsburgh, whom sickness prevented from attending. The members of the lodge of the Craft and Mahoning lodge with all visiting Masons assembled at Masonic headquarters and marched in a body in Masonic regalia to the site of the Masonic headquarters at the intersection of North street and Apple alley. The Masons were preceded by a full band, which played appropriate airs during the ceremonies. A quartet, consisting of Misses Sarah Dana Falls and Hellen Mursom and Messrs. Russell and Harry Urmson, gave vocal selections. In the stone were deposited a list of the grand lodge officers for 1904, a Masonic directory of Lawrence county, local lodges' by-laws, history of local lodges, a Bible, coins minted in 1904, copies of New Castle papers and other documents.

The following acted as grand lodge officers: Right Worshipful Grand Master Walter D. Clark, Deputy Grand Master John C. Wallace, Senior Grand Warden Clair L. Carson, Junior Grand Warden Dr. Allen W. Urmson, Grand Treasurer Edgar E. Seavey, Grand Secretary Dr. John N. Emery, Grand Chaplains Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Moore and Rev. J. W. Campbell, Grand Stewards Francisco L. Gilbert of Sharon and Dr. H. Elmore Zerner, Grand Senior Deacon John S. Wallace, Grand Tyler the Hon. Aaron L. Hazen, Grand Marshal ex-Mayor William J. Diehl of Pittsburgh, Grand Sword Bearer W. L. T. Sharp of Pittsburgh. Following the laying of the corner stone Attorney Samuel W. Dana gave an address upon the history and purposes of Free Masonry. HENDERSON AND M'MAHON MAKE DENIAL OF CHARGES

Former Tells Their Story of the Trouble With Campers from Uniontown.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

MONESSEN, PA., Aug. 9.—The arrest of Councilman David Henderson and Lafayette McMahan of this borough by Constable Charles M. Fee of Uniontown has caused much excitement. The charges of felonious assault preferred by Charles P. Craig and Frank Robinson of Uniontown before Justice J. N. Davidson are declared to be groundless by the two men. Both are held for the September term of court. Councilman Henderson declares that he and McMahan acted in self-defense. He said:

"McMahan and I were at the water's edge about 11:30 o'clock on the night of the trouble intending to look after outlines. A small boat came down the river, in the bow of which was a dark lantern held by one of the occupants. I requested them to remove the light and they refused. I made the request a second time and one of the occupants commanded the man at the oars to pull to the shore, saying 'I have my gun with me.' This I knew meant trouble and McMahan and I prepared to defend ourselves. The story that we overturned their boat and tried to drown the men is obviously false. Had we done this it would have been impossible for them to go up the river in their boat, which they say they did immediately after the trouble. Their effort to implicate us in the drowning of Councilman John Campbell is weak, inasmuch as we were not near the scene of the accident. It has been proven beyond a doubt that Campbell was seized with cramps while in the water after he had rocked and upset the boat. The claim that Campbell interceded in behalf of the Uniontown people is also false."

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE OPENS LITERARY BUREAU

First Formal Meeting in New York Maps Out National Campaign Work.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The Republican national executive committee met at headquarters this morning. Chairman Cortelyou said that the literary bureau at headquarters would begin work at once.

The first formal meeting developed the fact that preliminary arrangements were far enough advanced so that the real work of the campaign can be proceeded with, and the conditions in various parts of the country were discussed at some length. Steps will at once be taken to procure full and accurate information from trustworthy sources in every part of every state that is now considered a battle ground. The different members of the committee have already begun work upon the lines suggested at today's meeting.

After the meeting adjourned Chairman Cortelyou saw Gov. John F. Hill of Maine and F. M. Simpson, chairman of the Republican committee of that state. Maine holds an election of state officers and congressmen on September 12, and while there is no doubt about the success of the Republicans they desire to make the majorities as large as possible for the moral effect it will have on other states. The campaign in that state has already begun with local speakers, but the national committee will take part in the campaign beginning August 29, when national speakers will be sent to Maine.

UNITED PRESBYTERIANS HOLD THEIR REUNION

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CONNEAUT LAKE, EXPOSITION PARK, Aug. 9.—Exposition park again today witnessed the annual gathering of the United Presbyterians of Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio. About 7,000 came in on 15 special trains from all directions, and at least half that number by carriages from the surrounding community. One theft was reported, that of George Kane of Ethel Landing, Pa., whose pocketbook, said to contain $60 and a railroad ticket, was stolen. He was compelled to borrow money to return home. Eight detectives were sent here from Pittsburgh. They spotted four Allegheny crooks. One of them was a woman. Three arrests were made for pocketing. The beach, the shooting galleries and the seven steamboats did a large business. This afternoon a crowd in the auditorium was entertained with a musical program, arranged by Rev. Dr. J. H. McCormick. The main features were the singing of Mrs. O. A. Mason of Conneaut and the organ playing of Prof. Nick Russell of Oakford Beach.

The Baptist and Congregational congregations of Pierpont, Ashtabula county, O., drove here today in wagons. An entertaining feature of the afternoon was the ball game between Butler and Cochranton, the former winning by a score of 12 to 6. A unique crowd mingling with the people today were the "Happy Snorers" from Oil City, it being their third annual outing.

ALTON BROOKS PARKER WILL KNOW ALL TODAY

Committee Will Go to Esopus to Formally Notify Democratic Nominee.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ESOPUS, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Preparations are practically complete at Rosemount tonight for the formal notification tomorrow of Judge A. B. Parker of his nomination as Democratic candidate for the presidency. These preparations are notably simple. In the morning flags and bunting will be draped about the low platform from which the speeches are to be delivered, and seats will be arranged conveniently about it on the lawn. Everything will then be in readiness for the arrival of the steamer Sagamore, which will bring the notification committee from New York city. In case of inclement weather the notification ceremony will take place upon the boat.

It is expected that 1,500 persons will be present to hear the speeches, 500 of them from Ulster county, in which the judge's home is located. With the 50 members of the notification committee will come a large number of Democrats from this and other states. The opening speech will be that of Chairman Champ Clark of Missouri, who will formally notify Judge Paker of his nomination and will present to him a certified copy of the platform adopted by the St. Louis convention and of the message decided upon by the convention in reply to the judge's telegram on the gold question. Judge Parker will follow Mr. Clark with his speech formally accepting the nomination.

Col. Daniel S. Lamont, former secretary of war, whose name is prominently mentioned in connection with the Democratic nomination for governor of New York, and United States Judge George J. Gray of Delaware were visitors at Rosemount today. Mr. Lamont said that he was not a candidate for the nomination for governor.

BURGLAR WAS CAUGHT.

William Mason, Negro, Jumped From Second-Story Window When Discovered.

William Mason, a negro, is being held at the Central station suspected of having committed a dozen or more robberies in the Wylie avenue hill district during the last month. He was arrested by Policeman F. J. Donnelly while escaping from the house of Scout Clark, rear of 1627 Webster avenue, and he exchanged several shots with the officers.

Clark heard some one in his house at 4 o'clock yesterday morning, and quietly went for an officer. As Clark and the officer returned Mason jumped from the second-story window. The officer ordered Mason to surrender and the negro replied with a shot. The policeman returned the shot and Mason, seeing that escape was impossible, gave himself up.

VETERANS OF CIVIL WAR MEET IN KENNYWOOD PARK

Survivors of the One Hundred and Second Pennsylvania Volunteers Hear Speeches and Elect Officers.

Veterans of the One Hundred and Second Pennsylvania volunteers, formerly the Thirteenth, held their annual reunion in Kennywood park yesterday. Of the 350 surviving members scattered throughout the country 115 were present, many coming long distances. The roll call in which the names of the original enlistment were called, was the most impressive event of the day. Fifteen who answered last year are now dead.

The address of the day was delivered by the Rev. Dr. T. N. Boyle, who was followed by Comrades W. H. H. Wasson, D. S. Salsbury, S. M. Duvall, Smith, Sellman and Moreland with short stories and reminiscences.

The election of officers resulted in the re-election of the incumbents: S. M. Duvall, president; W. H. H. Wasson, James McLaughlin and William Hamilton, vice presidents; Pressley S. Brown, secretary; William Renton, treasurer, and D. B. Douthett, chaplain. The time and place for the next meeting was not set.

The organization was first the Thirteenth regiment. At the end of the service the men re-enlisted for three years. When the three years' term of service was completed the regiment once more re-enlisted for three years, and served until the end of the war. During the war the regiment was engaged in the following battles: The first engagement at Williamsburg, Fair Oaks, Savage Station, Melvern Hill, White Oak Swamp, Yorktown, the second battle of Bull Run, Antietam, Gettysburg, Fredericksburg (both battles), Salem Church, the battle of the Wilderness, Spottsylvania Court House, Cold Harbor, the first and second battles of Petersburg, Winchester, Cedar Creek, Fishers Hill, Saler Creek and Appomattox.

ANTHRACITE MINERS GO ON STRIKE OVER SCALES

Men Claim They Weigh Incorrectly. Announcement by Lehigh Valley Company Superintendent.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SCRANTON, PA., Aug. 9.—Eight hundred miners employed at the Old Forge colliery, of the Erie company went on strike today. The strikers claim that the scales with which the mine cars are weighed are incorrect and that they are deprived of the credit for half a ton of coal for each car. The miners asked that an expert make an examination of the scales. The company, they claim agreed to this but before the inspection was finished the company countermanded the order. The trouble at the Barnum colliery where 1,000 men are on strike, it is said, is of similar character.

Supt. Warriner, of the Lehigh Valley Company, announced today that the Lehigh Valley company would not compute the coal per car for increase on the gross wages of the miner until requested to do so by the mine conciliation board. The question will be submitted by the company at the next meeting of the conciliation board.

GAMES TODAY.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 9.—By bunching hits after misplays by the Phillies Pittsburgh won today's game, 5 to 4. Corridon outpitched Case, but the latter was at his best with men on the bases.

Henry McCormick arrived from New York and played left field. Diehl was at short, while Wagner covered first. Diehl put up an excellent game. Ritchey also handled several hard chances in good shape. It was a hit by Diehl and Wagner that brought Pittsburgh their first victory during this series.

McCormick opened the game with a bounder to Doolin and was out. Beaumont singled to left. Cassady struck out and Beaumont was caught trying to steal second. The Phillies failed to get the ball out of the infield in their half.

Wagner drew a pass in the second, ran to third on Kruger's well-placed bunt and a rush on pitchey's out. The Phillies scored the two runs in their half of the second inning. Wagner handled McGee's grounder alone. Kid Gleason reached to right and advanced to second on Doolin's bunt in front of the plate. Both runners were advanced a base on Roth's out and both scored on Donohue's single to center. Neither side got beyond first base in the third inning.

Pittsburgh jumped ahead in the fourth inning. Cassady was retired Corridon to Doolin but Wagner shot a "Texas leaguer" over second which McGee lost in the sun. Kruger hit to Corridon, who threw the ball to head off Wagner, but Donohue dropped it. Ritchey's out advanced the runners a base each and they scored on Diehl's hit to left field. Diehl hit for two bases in the fourth, but was not advanced.

The Champions clinched the game in the fifth inning. McCormick died at first. Beaumont, the second man up, beat out a hit to Wolverton. Cassady waited for four pitched balls and then Wagner hit a terrific drive to the left field balcony and sent in the winning runs. Cassady reached second in the seventh, but not another Pittsburgh player got beyond first in the remaining innings.

The Phillies on the other hand were always dangerous. Donohue began the fifth with a hit and McGee singled in the sixth, but neither got beyond first base. Doolin's sacrifice put two runs in the seventh. Roth was given a base on balls, took second on Donohue's out, and tallied on Corridon's single to right. Thomas also drew a pass, Duke filed to Ritchey and Wolverton's single sent Corridon across the plate. McGee was the third out. Ritchey to Wagner. In the eighth inning Gleason beat out a hit to Wagner, but was forced out at second by Cassady. Diehl to Ritchey who threw to Diehl heading off Doolin. In trying for a double play Diehl threw the ball over Wagner's head, but Harry Smith was washing up and no damage resulted.

Corridon opened the ninth with a two-bagger over McCormick's head, which Harry was very slow going after. Thomas' out put him on third, and it looked good for a tie game, but Case fooled Duke and Corridon was forced to remain in a fly behind third which Kruger caught. Diehl threw Wolverton out at first and the game was over.

Manager Tommy Leach, although feeling weak, expects to get back into the game tomorrow. Bransfield may also play, and it is expected that the Champions will strike their winning gait. McCormick was brought from New York by President Dreyfuss today and signed a Pittsburgh contract. Both he and Cassady are left handed. Roscoe Miller was given a week's leave of absence and left for home today. His pitching hand is lacerated, the wrist is sprained and hands swollen as a result of the omnibus accident. The score:

Donovan Outpitches Young.

DETROIT, Aug. 9.—Charles Hickman was given a royal welcome in his first game here today. When the team lined up for practice he was applauded. Shortly he pulled down a bad throw with one hand and everybody cheered. Donovan had Boston at his mercy nearly the entire game. Detroit broke the tie in the eighth by getting three singles and a double off Young. The fielding was little short of marvelous, O'Leary making the feature play. Score:

CAPT. BROWN'S BROOMSTICK ANNEXES THE TRAVERS

SARATOGA, N.Y., Aug. 9.—The Travers a historic stake first run in 1864, the year racing was introduced at Saratoga, was the feature of today's card. It was merely a gallop for Capt. Brown's Broomstick. The Ben Brush colt was at times seven or eight lengths ahead of the other two who raced neck and neck most of the distance. Robadil had stamina enough to draw away through the stretch and finished four lengths behind the aged-up winner.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 9.

Life Guard Penny heard a man's cry for help while patrolling up and down the surf in his boat this morning, and hurried to the man's aid. The bather refused to give his name, but said that he was staying at one of the large hotels. MUSIC AT THE EXPOSITION.

Young Pittsburgher Just Honored at St. Louis to Have a Place on "Pittsburgh Night."

Some of the local composers whose works are to be heard on "Pittsburgh Composers' Night" at the new Exposition has been signally honored by the music committee at the world's fair, St. Louis. George Ahl, son of a well known music teacher, and the youngest among the city's meritorious musicians, Mr. Ahl Monday received a letter from Director Kroeger, master of programs at the fair, informing him that his "Air and Gavotte" had been placed upon one of the symphony programs there, and under the baton of Alfred Ernst had been performed by the exposition orchestra with the most gratifying results. This composition will be the program's finishing number, when Philip Sousa for "Pittsburgh Night."

Negotiations have been opened that may result in the appearance in New Exposition music hall of Mlle. Martha Girod, the famous French pianist, who is declared to have the heroic qualities of execution that have distinguished Carreno, and beside the fine artistry of masters like De Pachmann, Mlle. Girod, from all reports, has the most astounding musical memory, as she is prepared at any time to perform any one of 800 important works.

WILLING TO WAIT FIVE DAYS FOR MARRIAGE LICENSE

Because Katie Green lacks just five days of being 21 years old, she will wait that long before taking out a license to wed Thomas Murray. The couple appeared before Clerk Herman Hegner at the marriage license office yesterday and were told that it would be necessary to either wait or have the court appoint a guardian for the girl. "Oh, we'll wait," said Miss Green, cheerfully, "for we are not to be married till August 17."

South Side Children Had a Merry Time At Their Field Day Exercises

These Bright Faces Are Indicative of Talent Worth Cultivating.

The exhibit of manual training work turned out by the South Side vacation and summer playground school, made yesterday in connection with the second annual field day celebration, attracted considerable attention. The cut published herewith shows a "bunch" of the youngsters who did the work and who were prominent in the sporting events which were a notable feature of yesterday's celebration. They are bright youngsters—their faces show that—and the vacation and summer playground school has brought out to a wonderful degree talents which, had it not been for the school, might have lain hidden and dormant for all time. The manual training work consisted of basket making, hammock weaving and wood working. The sports of the day were in charge of Gus Krell. John Bergman was starter of the races and Dr. Amelleby, John Patch and Joseph G. Armstrong the judges. A number of persons interested in the playground work, among them Controller J. B. Larkins and Mrs. Samuel A. Ammon, were present. In the races no attempt was made to keep the time, all the attention of the judges being devoted to deciding the winners and giving out the prizes. The affair took place at the South Side Recreation park, Carson and South Ninth streets, and Mrs. Samuel F. Miller, chairman of the park committee, was presented with a cut glass dish as a token of the appreciation in which she is held in the community. There were 600 children with their parents in attendance.

SOCIETY

MISS MARY MELLON and her brother, Edward P. Mellon, of Bayard street, left the city on Friday morning, and will spend the next two weeks in an auto tour of New England.

Members of Pittsburgh society have many ways of amusing themselves during the hot months, and, although there are many who will not spend the entire summer away from home, nearly all are making short trips, which very often do not take the travelers far from their home city. Automobile trips are of paramount interest to the sport-loving contingent of society.

Mr. and Mrs. Julian Kennedy of Forbes street are planning a delightful auto trip to Youngstown. They will leave on Friday morning, their party including their two sons, Julian Kennedy, Jr., and Thomas Kennedy, and a nephew, John Kennedy of Buffalo, who has been their house guest for some time. Miss Lucy Kennedy is taking the lake trip on the Corsair, and later in the evening refreshments were served on the verandas. Large bunches of asparagus and goldenrod formed effective decorations. Miss Ethelwyn MacMichaels of Fox Avon was among the out-of-town guests. Miss MacMichaels will remain with Miss Wade over Sunday.

Arnd-Hegarty.

In St. Richard's Roman Catholic church yesterday morning the marriage of Miss Alma M. Arnd of Thirty-third street and Dr. John G. Hegarty of Wylie avenue was solemnized. The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's brother, the Rev. D. H. Hegarty, assisted by the Rev. Father Hearne and the Rev. Father Meyer. The bride was attended by Miss Dahl Arnd as maid of honor and Miss Bertha J. Tiegel as bridesmaid. Dr. W. H. Glass of Center avenue was the best man. The bride was prettily gowned in white net over white satin, trimmed with duchess lace. She carried a white silk bound prayer-book with a marker terminating in a shower of white sweet peas. The maid of honor wore pink organdie and carried pink brides roses, while the bridesmaid was gowned in white organdie and carried white roses. The church was decorated in pink and white. The marriage ceremony was followed by the celebration of high mass. Later in the day the bride and bridegroom left for their wedding trip and on their return will stop in St. Louis. The bride and her bridesmaid, Miss Bertha J. Tiegel, were traveling companions on the European trip given by The Pittsburgh Gazette to the public school teachers two years ago. They were roommates throughout the trip.

Lydick-Stuchel Family Reunion.

The annual reunion of the Lydick-Stuchel association will be held at the grove near Marion, Indiana county, on August 25. This association is composed of the descendants of John Lydick, who was one of the pioneers of Indiana county. They are now scattered all over Western Pennsylvania and have representatives in a number of other states. Last year over 3,000 persons were present and the attendance it is expected will be equally as good this year.

The program will be made up of music by a fife club and a mandolin corps, both composed entirely of persons of the Lydick blood, speeches by old residents and all the general features of a basket picnic. The old land mill brought into Indiana county and which was once buried during an Indian raid, will be among the curiosities exhibited.

Studying Methods in the East.

Miss Beulah Kennard, the general chairman of the joint committee of women's clubs, and Miss Jennie D. Bradley, secretary, who left last fall week after the close of the summer playgrounds and vacation schools in this city, are spending the first three days of this week in New York. They are visiting the playgrounds conducted in that city, the roof gardens for the children, and if they have time, will see some of the other forms of philanthropic work for the poor and needy children of the great cities, including the floating hospitals. Tonight they will leave for Boston, where they will spend the remainder of the week. Miss Kennard will then go to Pigeon Cove to stay until September 1, while Miss Bradley will go on to the Thousand Islands to join Miss Lucy Hine, who has been there for several weeks.

Miss Wade's Informal Dance.

A delightful little affair was the house dance given by Miss Justine Wade of Oakmont last evening. Forty young people were in attendance. Miss Wade and her mother, Mrs. Isaac Wade, received the guests. The dancing took place in the drawing room of Robinson, and later in the evening refreshments were served on the verandas. Large bunches of asparagus and goldenrod formed effective decorations. Miss Ethelwyn MacMichaels of Fox Avon was among the out-of-town guests. Miss MacMichaels will remain with Miss Wade over Sunday.

Going With a Party to St. Louis.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Carson, Jr., of Center avenue, Shadyside, expect to leave the city during the first week of September for St. Louis. They will go with a party of Philadelphia and Uniontown people, and after their visit to the exposition will travel farther west, visiting in Denver and other cities. Miss Georgia Carson and Miss Julia Carson of Sewickley, Mr. Carson's sisters, who have been in Paris for the past year, will sail for home tomorrow.

Allegheny Man to Wed in October.

Another wedding, that of Miss Alice L. Mizener, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Mizener of Erie, and Dr. Boyd McKown of Allegheny, has been added to the list of fall nuptial events. Although the date for the wedding has not been set, it will take place in October. Mr. McKown is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William McKown of Perrysville avenue, Allegheny.

Making Overland Trip to Cumberland.

Twelve prominent McKeesport people left yesterday for a 16-day overland trip to the Potomac river near Cumberland, Md. They took tents. The party includes Capt. and Mrs. A. R. Campbell, Postmaster and Mrs. M. V. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Campbell, Jr., County Recorder and Mrs. J. Denny O'Neil and son, Mrs. F. C. Wampler and daughter Miss Natalie. They are making the trip in three buggies, a surrey and several wagons.

Expected Home Today.

Mrs. John Fremont Shaffer of South Negley avenue is expected home today from Cleveland, where she spent July. Mrs. Shaffer went to Cleveland early in the summer in her automobile, and at the conclusion of her visit there went on to Clifton park, near Cleveland, to open her summer home.

Notes of Society.

Miss Mabel L. Johnson of Forty-fifth street left last evening for an eastern tour. She will remain a week at Brighton, N. Y., and then, after visiting the principal eastern cities, will return home about the middle of September.

Miss Charlotte Nicholson of Millvale avenue left yesterday for a two-weeks' visit with Mrs. S. S. Carrier at her cottage at Lighthouse point.

CHAUTAUQUA

CHAUTAUQUA, N. Y., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman addressed a large audience on "Why Our Prayers Are Not Answered." At the close of his address, in which he impressed upon his hearers the wisdom of asking strength from above for but one day at a time, Fred Butler rendered impressively the song, "Just For Today."

Prof. R. G. Moulton gave the second in the series on Deuteronomy, "The Farewell Oration of Moses," to a large class which contained an unusually large number of men. Prof. Moulton's work as interpreter is well known. Prof. S. C. Schmucker lectured on "A Stalk of Corn," and gave a nature study talk which gave points to agricultural students in particular which were of great practical value. After the lecture many waited to thank Prof. Schmucker for the help he had given. One old farmer gripped the professor's hand and said, "Mr. I'd knowed 15 years ago what you told me today I'd a had more corn growin' in thet south field of mine."

Aquatics of all kinds play no small part in the summer's activities, and aquatic day is one of the most interesting of the season. Today's swimming contests were very exciting. The final was won by Mr. Rodger and the second by Master Schmucker. The canoe race was won by Messrs. Harrison and Vandivort of Jamestown, N. Y. Spectators at this end of the lake were disappointed in not seeing the race between the Chautauqua and Chadakoin crews. This year they battle for supremacy in shells at the other end of the lake.

The fame of Mrs. Helen Rhodes as a lecturer preceded her to Chautauqua with the result that she was greeted by a large audience of music-loving people. The highly religious story of Parsifal was told with power and enthusiasm. The lecturer explained the development of Parsifal's character from utmost simplicity to perfect knowledge. Mrs. Rhodes softly told of the quiet that rested about Wagner's grave. The lecture closed with a glimpse of the home of Wagner's later life and a pilgrimage to the quiet grave where he now rests. The artistic description and the scenes shown in the many beautifully colored slides was heightened by the pianist, Adolf Glose, of New York.

District Attorney May Probe.

District Attorney Stewart gave an interview to former Allegheny Policeman Amos A. Darbold yesterday morning and it may be that on the information received Mr. Stewart will commence an investigation of the allegations of graft and other corruption that, according to Darbold, are practised on the North Side by city officials.

Greek Was Heavily Fined.

H. Demars, a Greek of 501 East Ohio street, Allegheny, was fined $100 and costs yesterday by Magistrate Harkins. Demars erected a small frame building on the rear of his property and was ignorant of the fact that it was necessary to obtain a permit from the city building inspector's office.

TAX BILL IS PASSED.

West Virginia Senate Adopts House Measure After Amendment--Republicans Vote With Democrats.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—The license tax bill, passed by the house yesterday, went through the senate this afternoon, after being amended so as to impose a license tax on breweries and distilleries on a basis of six cents a barrel up to 10,000 barrels, above which the scale is graduated.

In the house today the majority vote was again split on the passage of one of the bills relating to the regulation of the reform school, which barely got through, the vote standing 37 to 32. The revolt in the Republican ranks was led by Delegate Cunningham of Tucker, who vigorously opposed the measure because it saddled upon the counties the support of their inmates. The vote on the measure showed six Democrats recalcitrants. Several other bills were passed in the house. The senate reported the passage of the bill creating the office of tax commissioner and requested the concurrence of the house.

EVIDENCE OF SUPPORT IN THE STOCK MARKET

Steel Preferred Sold Below 58, but Recovered All the Loss—Metropolitan Very Strong—Wall Street Ignored the Boom in Wheat.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The course of the stock market yesterday tends to strengthen the argument of some that the large financial interests in Wall street have the market under control, give it support whenever it is needed, and are enlisted on the bull side. At the opening there was a fresh batch of crop damage news, and foreign grain markets were all strong and higher, indicating that sentiment here was gradually extending to Liverpool and the continental markets. American securities were lower in the London market and consols declined ¼ per cent. There was in the labor field a reported extension of the meat packers' strike to New York, and altogether the industrial situation looks threatening. The stock market was rather heavy during the first hour, but the only positively weak stock was U. S. Steel preferred. The western speculators made a special drive against this stock and succeeded in forcing the price through 58, the lowest since the declaration of the July dividend. When the grain market opened and wheat scored a new high price for the crop, the grangers sold off fractionally, but offerings of stock were light and trading simply became dull. The sharp reaction in wheat was followed by a rally in railroad stocks, and the subsequent display of strength in the Chicago grain pits did not check the rising tendency in the stock market during the final hour. As a rule, closing prices were fractionally higher than on Monday.

The real leader of the upward movement was Metropolitan Street Railway, which advanced 4 per cent to 124¼, the highest price for more than a year, and representing a net recovery of nearly 20 per cent from the low price of last March. All of the other traction stocks sympathized with the strength of the leader and closed at net gains. Early in the day there was a fresh denial of stories of a deal between the Metropolitan and the Interborough, but this denial was entirely ignored, and Metropolitan closed within a fraction of the highest.

Southern Pacific was perhaps the strongest of the railroad group and advanced to 51⅝, the highest since the announcement of the preferred stock issue. London was said to be a buyer of the stock, and the street was full of bullish tips on Union Pacific and it closed ¾ higher for the day, while Atchison and Rock Island closed unchanged.

The ease with which U. S. Steel preferred recovered all its early loss and rallied to 59 was a surprise to the shorts and evidently a disappointment to the bearish clique which sold so freely at the opening. The real holders of this stock apparently refused to take fright over the alleged friction which was said to be threatening the billet pool, and rumor has that one of the members of the plate pool had been detected in cutting prices somewhat after the method of the Republic Iron and Steel with its billet contract, failed to start liquidation in the stock. The opinion of well informed traders is that there is an enormous short interest in Steel preferred, and that this is the chief sustaining factor in the market.

Call loan rates remained easy and unchanged at ⅞ to 1 per cent, which were the closing figures. Also announcement was made that the National Bank of Commerce in New York would ship $1,500,000 gold to Cuba by Saturday's steamer, making a total of $3,000,000 for the week, but in the present condition of the money market the outgo of a few millions more or less has no effect.

The bulletin of the weather bureau reviewing the crop conditions during the week ending August 8 was received with great interest by the grain trade. The government reporters took cognizance of the reported damage by rust in the northwest, but this was not the first time the discovery which occurred in the wheat market just before the close. The primary movement of wheat continues very large. The receipts for the day were 838,000 bushels, against 1,000,000 bushels the corresponding day last year. The shipments were 486,000 bushels, against 245,000 bushels a year ago. Bradstreet's reported an increase of 1,307,000 bushels in the world's visible supply. All of the foreign markets closed higher.

On the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday the feature was the trading in Pittsburgh Coal. For some time there has been practically no market for the common stock, but yesterday over 700 shares changed hands at the uniform price of 13¼, which was unchanged from the last previous sales. The preferred on light sales recovered to 55, but later reacted to 54⅛. Westinghouse Electric sold unchanged at 79½, but closed at 79⅝ bid, 80 asked. Small lots of Air Brake sold at 132 and 131, closing at 130 bid. The steel stocks were dull and a shade lower. Manufacturers Light and Heat was firmer, selling at 32¼ and closing at that price bid. The remainder of the list was dull and unchanged.

The Money Market Outlook.

Howard P. Frothingham of New York, who has better facilities than almost any other man for forecasting the future of the money market, on the eve of his departure for Europe, on his first vacation since he commenced business in Wall street, ventured the following predictions: "1. The 1 per cent call money market will continue until after the election. 2. Following election there will be a stringency, and rates may go as high as 3 per cent to 3½ per cent occasionally. 3. After the 1st of January money will again be easier through the winter. 4. After the 4th of March and the inauguration, with the president-elect there will be a general revival of business, and greater demands for money. The liquidation of undigested securities has been almost completed during the past few months. Since January 1 the trust companies of New York City have decreased their loans by $168,000,000, and have increased their investments in stocks and bonds by $43,200,000. The holdings of stocks by commission houses in Wall street at present are the smallest in many years, showing that stocks are held in strong hands. These are the principal features of the market for money as I see them. And it is because of my confidence that the market will take the course I have indicated that I have permitted myself to take a vacation and leave the country for the first time since I commenced business in Wall street."

Government Crop Report.

The government crop report will be issued this afternoon at 4 o'clock. It will report conditions as of August 1 for spring wheat, corn and oats. For the purpose of comparison the following figures will be interesting, showing conditions for July and August for a series of years:

	Spring wheat. July.	Aug.	Corn. July.	Aug.
1904	95.4	88.4	89.4	.....
1903	97.1	90.4	88.7	86.7
1902	92.4	89.7	87.5	86.5
1901	95.6	80.3	81.3	54.0
1900	85.2	56.4	89.6	87.5

The July figures for the year indicated a yield of 386,659,000 bushels winter wheat and 271,621,000 bushels spring wheat, a total of 641,280,000 bushels, against an actual yield of both of 637,821,880 bushels last year. During July, however, there was considerable loss in winter wheat owing to the bad weather during harvest time, and within the past two weeks there have been reports of extensive damage to spring wheat caused by rust. The total yield has within the past few days been estimated as low as 550,000,000 bushels, but it is hardly possible that within one month more than 100,000,000 bushels has been destroyed. An indicated yield by today's figures of 600,000,000 bushels would still be bullish, when compared with the average for the past three years, and would be decidedly bullish compared with the crop of 1901, which reached the record-breaking total of 748,400,000 bushels.

Billet Pool Friction Removed.

A Pittsburgh banker who keeps in close touch with local industrial matters said yesterday: "My information early in the day was to the effect that the friction in the steel billet pool would be removed during the day. I think this must have been accomplished, judging by the strong recovery in United States Steel preferred. There was a good deal of feeling over the matter, and some of the timid ones thought it might lead to a break that would affect the market for steel products generally. There may have been that possibility in the situation, but I believe an understanding has been reached that will avert any further trouble."

Westinghouse Electric.

Westinghouse Electric was very steady yesterday, but there was no evidence of artificial support and the total sales reached only 230 shares at 79½. The close was firm at 79⅝ bid, 80 asked. There is some discussion in local market circles over the statement in the circular inviting subscriptions to the treasury stock that the "holders of the stock hereby offered will be entitled to participate in any dividends declared for the quarter ending September 30, 1904." It is not clear from this wording whether the new stock will receive the full dividend declared for the September quarter, or only a proportionate share of the dividend, based upon the amount of the subscription paid and the 45 days of the quarter during which the stock will be out. Inasmuch as the current quarter began July 1, and the first payment on new stock subscriptions, amounting to $50 a share, may be paid as late as August 15 and the third and last payment of $25 a share as late as November 30 next, it would be equivalent to a bonus to subscribers if the full dividend were paid on the new stock. The opinion prevails that only a pro rata dividend will be declared on the new stock for the current quarter.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH.

Bank exchanges were $6,398,945, a decrease of $933,000.

Pittsburgh Coal common, the only active local stock, selling at 13¼.

Pittsburgh Coal preferred and the River Coal issues were unchanged.

Westinghouse Electric firm, selling at 79½ and closing at 79⅝ bid.

Airbrake declined to 131 and Switch was unchanged at 67½.

Natural Gas stocks firmer. Steel stocks a shade lower.

IN WALL STREET.

Stocks were weak in the morning and strong at the close.

Total sales four up 323,200 shares stock and $2,245,000 bonds.

Metropolitan was most active, and advanced to the highest price this year.

United States Steel preferred broke to 57⅜, but recovered to 59.

Southern Pacific the strongest of the railroads, advancing to 51⅝.

Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio closed at net gains.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

Another Pittsburgher, who within recent years has become prominent in local financial circles, will go down to Wall street in order to be in a position to handle the brokerage business at closer range. Marshall R. Ward yesterday purchased a seat in the New York stock exchange and left that night for New York to complete the preliminaries to his admission as a member of that body. Dr. Ward was for several years a member of the firm of Morris, Brown & Co., who are also members of the New York stock exchange, and last month he withdrew from the firm for the purpose of looking after enterprises in which he and Charles M. Schwab are mutually interested. At one time he contemplated removal to the west, but his plans so far have been modified that he has purchased a seat in the New York exchange and will open an office in that city. He has rented his house on Wallingford street and his family will take up their residence in New York next month. Dr. Ward has many influential friends in local financial and industrial circles who are also more or less interested in stock market speculation. His entrance into the brokerage business here recruited the severance of pleasant relations, but heartily wish him success in the wider field in the east.

One of the oldest members of the Pittsburgh stock exchange remarked after the close of the market yesterday: "I am a strong believer in higher prices for local securities eventually, and I do not believe there will be much if any decline from the present average, but the lack of public interest is discouraging. If the average of prices were 10 points above the present level we would have active trading here, but the people who have in previous years been looked upon as leaders appear to have lost their nerve. In other words, and the public will not take the initiative without a leader. The heaviest drags on our market today are the coal stocks and Crucible Steel. The future of the coal stocks and those of these companies is concerned I believe they have turned the corner and will improve from this time forward. I look to see renewed activity in Westinghouse Electric after the subscription period expires, and this may instill some life into the remainder of the market."

There was a fair demand for the Brewing stocks, the common selling at 25¼ to 25¾ and the preferred at 45⅝. These stocks will be quoted ex-dividend tomorrow.

The sales of Pittsburgh Coal common yesterday amounted to 728 shares, which was larger than the total for the entire month of July. All the transactions were at the uniform price of 13¼. The preferred stock was inactive, selling at 54⅛ to 55.

Westinghouse Air Brake declined to 131 and closed at 130 bid. Nelson Valve and Switch and Signal sold unchanged at 67½. Insiders are talking bullish on the latter stock.

The gross earnings of New York Central for July decreased $55,842. No sales of the stock occurred yesterday, the closing bid being 118¾.

The regular 2 per cent dividend on Reading first preferred is payable September 9 to stock of record August 22.

The surplus reserves of the Philadelphia banks foot up nearly $20,000,000, as compared with $5,325,000 a year ago.

The geological survey places the iron ore produced in the United States during the calendar year 1903 at 36,019,308 long tons. This is a 5½ per cent less than in 1902, but still greater than the combined output of Germany, the British empire and Luxemburg in 1902, the last year of record.

A private wire message after the close of the market read: "I believe that the western crowd is heavily short of stocks and especially Steel preferred and that they will have a hard time to cover."

The Wall Street Journal says: It is admitted that one of the members of the steel plate pool has been making concessions in prices in a round-about way. The attention of the company line not been called to the alleged breach of faith as yet, although it is likely that it will receive notification within the next few days. The alleged breach of contract is said to be similar to that of the Republic Iron and Steel Company. As a steel manufacturer put it today: "Many steel producers under existing circumstances would knock a man down for an order for 100 tons of steel. There is slightly better demand for steel plate, although nothing extraordinary in the way of orders can be reported. The figures of July show that business was better in that month than in either May or June.

Renewed disquiet abroad over international politics helped to unsettle the money market and a further advance in sterling exchange made a gold movement to London practically certain. It is understood that some $3,000,000 additional gold coin will also go to Cuba during the week. Sentiment was undisturbed by these prospects and the stock market closed very steady and practically at the top level.

A private sale of 500 shares Tonopah Extension was reported yesterday at $1 ol.

The packing house strike is resulting in an accumulation of money in Chicago banks. It is said that there is no other single industry in the country that exerts a more immediate influence on the money market than the meat packing industry. It is estimated that the outstanding loans of the various banks forming the meat packing combination aggregate $100,000,000. Certainly no other industry in the country has loans outstanding aggregating anything like as large an amount. The packers have a bookkeeping system for conducting the financial operations necessary for the transaction of their enormous business. The department is under the management of an experienced bank cashier. Different houses make deposits in hundreds, it is probably within the mark to say thousands, of banks throughout the United States. These deposits, individually small, run up in the aggregate to an immense sum. Each deposit is made with a distinct understanding that the firm shall have a right to borrow a corresponding amount of money. The notes of the meat packers are, therefore, distributed broadcast through many of the states of the country, and form part of the assets of thousands of the city and country banks. In addition to all this the packers are among the principal customers of the Chicago banks and moreover, sell a large amount of their paper in the New York market. Inasmuch as meat goes into almost immediate consumption there is hardly any other commodity which equals it as the basis of a bank loan. The meat packers are able to float this immense amount of paper and to carry this immense sum of indebtedness, because it is known that, were they to shut down the quick sale of their product would be able to pay off immediately the great bulk of what they owed. It is said that since the beginning of the strike the meat packing combination has already sold off over $10,000,000 in loans. As long as the strike continues it is expected that the packers will continue to pay off their loans at the rate of about $5,000,000 a week. If the strike proves to be a prolonged one it is certain that the loans of the packers will be enormously reduced, resulting in a further accumulation of idle capital at the principal financial centers.

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—Rates for money and discounts were maintained in the market today. Business on the stock exchange opened with prices fairly steady, but trading afterward became dull, owing to vague fears regarding the Anglo-Russian situation. Consols were weak and there were considerable liquidations in consequence of Premier Balfour's statement in the house of commons yesterday regarding the sinking of the British steamer Knight Commander. Home rails were lower. Americans opened dull on the unsatisfactory wheat crop reports, recovered to a shade above parity, became steady, reacted later and closed weak.

Foreigners were quietly steady on continental advices. Russians were dull. Imperial Japanese government sixes of 1904 were quoted at 95¾. Quotas for money, 87 1-16 per cent; consols for account, 88 1-16 per cent; money, 2¾@3 per cent. BERLIN, Aug. 9.—Prices on the bourse today were slightly stronger in the case of a few stocks, but generally they were unchanged.

JULY BUILDING FELL OFF BADLY

Loss of $2,223,000 Compared With July, 1903, and $541,980 Less Than June.

MORE CEMENT BLOCK HOUSES

The report of building operations in Pittsburgh for the month of July, issued yesterday, is a great disappointment to those who had looked for substantial evidence of a building boom. A total of 244 permits were issued, amounting to $607,200. Compared with July, 1903, this total shows a falling off of $2,223,232 in amount, although 20 more permits were issued this year than last. This glaring discrepancy is partly accounted for by the fact that the permit for the Wabash station was taken out in July, 1903, as well as the permits for one or more large warehouses. Few large buildings were authorized last month, most of the permits being for houses. June, 1904, showed a total of $1,148,180 or $541,980 more than July.

Of the permits issued 129 were for new buildings to cost $502,003, 48 for additions to cost $50,800, and 67 for alterations to cost $53,320. Forty-five brick buildings were authorized, 47 frame, 31 brick-veneered, one ironclad and five miscellaneous. The Nineteenth ward led with 22 permits. The Fourth ward had 21, the Twenty-first ward 15, and the Twenty-second ward 14 permits. Very little was done in the downtown section, with the exception of a few permits for additions and repairs.

The Hill Top Land and Improvement Company is preparing to build 100 houses. The company has about 20 acres of vacant frontage in Montooth borough and the Thirty-eighth ward and 18 acres in the Mt. Lebanon district. The contract has been awarded to George C. Wolf for eight of the houses, which will be built at the corner of Lincoln and Lafferty streets, Montooth borough. The remaining houses will be built in

NEWSBOYS LEARN WINNERS' NAMES

Chronicle Telegraph's Guests on the St. Louis Trip Are Announced.

BOYS HOLD A BIG MEETING

Friends of nearly any Pittsburgher could have been seen gathered in the office of the circulation manager of the Chronicle Telegraph last evening when the first meeting of the "Lucky Forty" newsboys who won out in the Chronicle Telegraph's contest was held. The prize for these boys is a trip to the St. Louis world's fair, free of all cost. The announcement of the winners was made in yesterday's Chronicle Telegraph with the injunction that each should come to the office of the circulation department at 7:30 o'clock to be measured for his special suit and receive general instructions regarding the trip.

There were many familiar faces in the gathering. John Finn, known to hundreds as "Finny," the popular newsboy at the postoffice corner, Fourth avenue and Smithfield street; Rose Fervin, who wheels her crippled brother around in a chair; "Gus" Williams of the Union station; John Owen, Penn avenue and Sixth street; John Coffey, Wood and Sixth; H. M. Harris, J. B. Cohen and "Pat" Kinney of the Fifth avenue force, and "Gus" Miller, the well-known traction newsboy, are among those who are known by sight to hundreds in the throngs that pass along the streets of Pittsburgh.

All Kinds of Newsies.

It is a cosmopolitan party. There is one girl, one colored boy, Irish boys, Jewish boys, a Russian, tall boys, short boys, thin boys, fat boys, one-legged boys, one-armed boys, optimists and pessimists. Their ages range from an alleged 12 years up. An angel-faced youth who showed no signs of more than seven years, vowed mightily that he was 12 years old. These are the winners:

No party from Pittsburgh to the World's fair will have a better time than will this one. They will travel in a Pullman sleeper, first class in every respect. On the train they will be served with a generous supper and will breakfast upon arrival at St. Louis the next morning. From the Wabash station, at the main entrance to the World's fair, they will go to the Administration building and report. They will see not only all the free features of the great exposition, but the program includes admission to about all of the leading "Pike" features. They will be roomed at the Grand View hotel, one of the leading new hotels at St. Louis, and their dinners and suppers on the fair grounds will be the best.

The party will be at the fair four full days, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of week. Thursday night they start for Pittsburgh, and on the way they will have breakfast on a special dining car attached for their own needs. They will reach Pittsburgh in the afternoon of Friday, August 19.

Anticipations of the good time coming raised the spirits of the meeting high and caused no end of good-natured chaffing. The crowd was exhorted to "mingle," but the request was not needed. In the fierce struggle for the survival of the fittest through which the newsboy goes, he learns quickly to be sociable. In addition many of the party were already old friends—or enemies. It made little difference last evening, for on the trip there are to be no "tony" newsies and no "broke" newsies. All will be treated alike and the similarity of equipment will put them all on the same plane of comradeship. "Sam" Pervin's affliction prevents him from making the trip, and his sister, Rose, will go in his stead. She is the only girl in the party.

Arrangements Were Announced.

The meeting was a live one from the start. All had been arranged for the quick disposal of the necessary preliminaries. Careful measurements were made of the boys to insure each suit attaching like the paper on the wall, and the excursion tickets that entitle them to passage over the Wabash signed. The plans were under the direction of E. F. Eck and W. S. Pattison, assistant circulation managers.

The big event of the evening came when the boys were called to order and Manager Isaac F. Bailey of the circulation department gave them a talk on the coming trip. He announced that the party would leave the Wabash station in a special Pullman, sleeping car of the handsomest design attached to the regular train at 2 o'clock next Sunday afternoon. At 1 o'clock they are to assemble at the circulation offices and each will then receive the suit for which he was measured, a handsome suitcase, a parasol and a whistle that will cut-shriek any other whistle ever made. The suit consists of white duck trousers, a lightweight black coat and a beach hat.

When the duck trousers were mentioned a commotion was started by one of the "Lucky" asking what would happen if some one should spit tobacco juice on them. A riot will result judging from the chorus that answered the question.

The boys were mated in pairs for the distribution of berths on the sleeping car, and nearly every one had a "pal" whom he had already chosen for his side-partner. This being over, some description was given by Mr. Bailey of the plans and the opinion of the boys was asked as to a number of details, the questions being settled by vote.

One of these was the methods of arranging the meals at St. Louis. To each one $5 is to be given to provide for dinner and supper for the four days on the grounds, breakfast being furnished at the Grand View hotel, where the party will be quartered. By unanimous vote the manager was authorized to arrange for the dinners and suppers for the whole party, each boy receiving his share of the balance remaining on account of the latter arrangement.

It was announced also that a check for $81 had been received from a well-known woman who wished to buy something for the boys. The extra $1 is for Sam Pervin, who on account of his affliction will not be able to make the trip. It had been understood that Rose will take his place and therefore there is a dollar for each of them.

It was stated also that the organization of newsboys of Toledo, of which Commodore Gunckel is the leading spirit, will have its band and a big delegation at the Toledo station to greet the Pittsburgh party on its arrival there over the Wabash. August 16 is the day of the national meeting of newsboys at St. Louis and it will be possible for as many of the party as wish to attend the sessions there.

The party will be in charge of Circulation Manager Bailey and it will be accompanied by an additional staff man from the Chronicle Telegraph, who will telegraph to the paper the events of the outing in order that the relatives and friends of the boys here may know how the party is enjoying the fair.

Work of Widening Another Downtown Street Recommenced

Another start has been made on the work of widening Oliver avenue, between Liberty avenue and Smithfield street. This time the buildings being torn away for the purpose of providing downtown Pittsburgh with another relief from the congestion of traffic that is almost hourly in evidence, are at Liberty and Oliver avenues on the north side of the last named thoroughfare. The work of demolition is partly shown in the accompanying cut. The derricks rising in the foreground are those used in excavating for the foundations of the new building for the mechanical and editorial departments of The Gazette, which is to be erected in Oliver avenue in the rear of the new building at Wood street and Oliver avenue, now used for the business home of The Gazette. It is expected that this building will be occupied by January 1 next. The expectation is that the widening of Oliver avenue will be completed by early next spring.

FILIPINOS WORE CLOTHES AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Professed Their Loyalty and Brought Native Gifts to the President.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Attired in white duck pajama-like uniforms and in vari-colored silks instead of coin-cloths an impressive deputation from the Philippine village at the Louisiana Purchase exposition was today received by the president. No visitors to Washington in many years attracted so much attention as the five Igorrotes and three Moros, one of the latter Datto Pecunda, one of the most powerful lords of Zamboanga.

President Roosevelt after shaking hands with each one of his little brown visitors replied that he was glad of the opportunity to welcome them to the national capital and to assure them that the American government desired to promote their welfare, prosperity and contentment. As the president's kindly expressions were interpreted to them by Antero the dattos and chiefs nodded their heads in approval and smiled their thanks. The reception took place in the president's private office and the adjoining cabinet room. While it was in progress the members of the cabinet arrived to attend the regular semi-weekly meeting. Each in turn was presented to the Filipinos who paid them the highest respect known to their people.

In the parade this afternoon nearly 2,500 men were in line. John F. Cantwell was chief marshal. Tonight the military companies participated in a prize drill at Avon park.

PENNSYLVANIA DAY AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

Governor Issues Proclamation Inviting Residents and Former Residents to Participate.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

HARRISBURG, Aug. 9.—Gov. Pennypacker today issued a proclamation designating Saturday, August 20, as "Pennsylvania day" at St. Louis. In his proclamation the governor says:

Saturday, August 20, 1904, the one hundredth anniversary of the victory of Anthony Wayne, commanding the army of the United States over the forces of the Indians, aided by the British at the Fallen Timbers, on the Maumee river, will be Pennsylvania day at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition in Saint Louis, Mo., and I invite the representatives of all the interests having exhibits in this exposition, and the officials of all the counties and municipalities of the state, and generally the citizens of Pennsylvania, to unite in an effort to make this occasion worthy of the past history and present accomplishment and prosperity of the commonwealth.

I recommend and request that they visit the exposition upon that day, and assemble at the Pennsylvania state building to take part in the commemorative exercises there to be held.

I further invite those citizens of Missouri and of the other states who were formerly residents of Pennsylvania, or whose forefathers came from Pennsylvania, and all who feel a sympathy and interest in our welfare through ties of kindred or otherwise, to aid in making this celebration memorable.

POTTER IS CONDEMNED.

Presbyterian Committee on Temperance Issue Statement Against the Subway Saloon Opened by the Bishop.

Resolutions condemning the action of Bishop Potter of New York in dedicating the "Subway Saloon" were adopted yesterday by William C. Lilley, chairman of the permanent committee on temperance of the Presbyterian general assembly, and the Rev. J. T. Hill, secretary of the committee. Owing to the fact that the committee does not meet until next month, Chairman Lilley determined that it was seasonable and right to take up the matter at this time, and conferred with Dr. Hill yesterday morning with the result that the following was drawn up:

Not in a quarter of a century has any single event done more to minimize the place and power of the Christian church in general, and temperance reform in particular, than the action of Bishop Henry C. Potter in giving the sanction of the Protestant Episcopal church to the establishment of the "subway saloon." This question, after all, is one of the church against the saloon. Whatever else may be said, it is admitted on all sides that the church is eminently respectable, and that the saloon is not, and so long as this sentiment prevails we are not afraid of the saloon. If the ban of public sentiment against making the saloon respectable can be maintained, and in the minds of the oncoming generation crystallized into action, the saloon would go.

It is, therefore, a public calamity that just now, when from a commercial and economic standpoint the saloon is losing favor with men outside the church, the church should lower its standard; for while Bishop Potter could not defend or speak for his church or for the church at large, he has nevertheless placed his church in particular and the whole Christian world on the defensive by reason of his official position, the importance of which is fully appreciated by all forms of Christian faith.

MILITARY NIGHT AT POMPEII.

Special Features Will Mark Elks' Entertainment at Friendship Park Tonight.

Pain's spectacular production at Friendship park, "The Fall of Pompeii," will have many new features at the bill tonight, which has been set aside as military night. A portrait of Col. Frank L. Rutledge, commander of the Eighteenth regiment, will be shown in fire, and a large turnout of the local guardsmen is anticipated. Pain has generously consented to repeat at this performance his world-famous spectacular fire picture, "Niagara Falls by Moonlight," in addition to many other features.

Tomorrow night will be known as "All Catholics' Night," and a portrait of the Rev. A. A. Lambing will appear in fire. Friday night, which has been set aside by Manager Kirk as German night, will have a fire portrait of John P. Ober as one of the special attractions, and Saturday night, which will be known as all nations' night, a picture of Uncle Sam will be shown.

CENTRAL BODIES WILL NOT MERGE

Scheme to Have All Labor Unions Affiliated With One Head Council Frustrated.

A. F. OF L. BLOCKS THE PLAN

A third attempt to consolidate the three large central labor organizations of this city has been blocked. Orders, it is said, have been issued by the officials of the American Federation of Labor to prevent the amalgamation. Those principally interested in the merging plan charge that the general organizers of the American Federation of Labor have been instructed to do all in their power to prevent the scheme being carried out. Nearly every trade union in Western Pennsylvania is affiliated with some one of the three central bodies it has been proposed to merge.

Those who have been working for consolidation admitted yesterday that the plans have been frustrated and that now it will be impossible to bring all organized workmen in Western Pennsylvania into one association, which would have for its purpose the adjusting of all kinds of disputes without resorting to drastic measures. The fundamental principles of the new organization were to be founded on conciliation and arbitration as the only business-like method of adjusting trade grievances.

That three central bodies referred to are the Iron City Central Trades council, which is a full-fledged American Federation of Labor body; the United Labor League, which is composed largely of miscellaneous trades, and the Building Trades council, which is made up almost exclusively of building crafts.

The last attempt to centralize all labor unions commenced about two months ago. For the third time the Building Trades and the United Labor league voted favorably, but the Iron City council turned the matter down. Later the question was taken up again, and through the influence of conservative leaders a committee was appointed to meet committees of the central bodies. The committees have met several times and have drawn up a constitution which was to be presented to each central body for ratification.

President Gompers has been advised of the turn of affairs, and it is said he has instructed his lieutenants to block the scheme. It is known that organizers are at work condemning the merger, and if the committee makes its report to the Iron City, the constitution of the new organization will be considered defective and the committee discharged. The representatives of the other central bodies intend allowing the matter to die in committee.

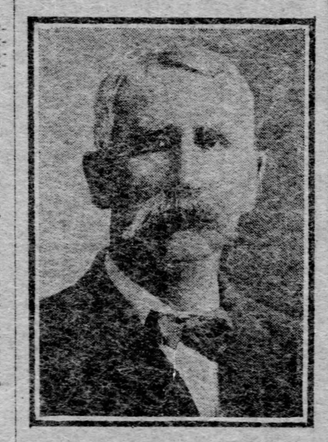
LABOR DAY COMMITTEE TO SETTLE TRADE DISPUTE

Only One of the Two Steamfitters' Unions Will Participate in the Parade.

The general Labor day committee met last evening and took up several matters pertaining to the celebration. Business was somewhat retarded by reason of the dispute between the two organizations of steamfitters being brought up again. The parent organization of steamfitters affiliates with the International Association of Steamfitters. The new organization affiliates with the United Association of Plumbers. According to precedent the old organization should be given the preference.

It is up to the committee to say which is the bona fide organization. If the parent organization gets a favorable decision the plumbers and their affiliated steamfitters will not turn out on Labor day, and vice versa.

A. Maginn, business agent of the old Steamfitters' union, has been appointed one of the aids to Chief Marshal Frank Curran. Mr. Maginn was chief marshal of the last Labor day parade and filled the position admirably. He has been in the labor movement several years and at present is representative to the Iron City Central Trades, the United Labor league and the Buildings Trades council, an honor which no other business agent enjoys.



E. A. MAGINN,
One of the Aids to the Chief Marshal.

Cambria County Officers Explain the Arrest of the Italian in Philadelphia.

JOHNSTOWN, PA., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—Late tonight Sheriff Leinhart of Cambria county, and Police Chief Harris of Johnstown, stated that the arrest of Nick Dennier, alias Nick Daniano by Special Officer Parrish in Philadelphia this afternoon had absolutely nothing to do with the murder of Charles Have in the Portage holdup July 30, as was supposed at Philadelphia.

A warrant was sworn out several days ago before Justice of the Peace Wicks of South Fork, charging the Italian with defrauding his creditors.

Bullman's home was in Pittsburgh. He was 35 years old and unmarried.

Hair-Vain?

Why not? A little vanity is a good thing. Perhaps you can't be hair-vain, your hair is so thin, so short, so gray. Then use Ayer's Hair Vigor. It stops falling of the hair, makes the hair grow, and always restores color to gray hair.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for over 40 years. I am now in my 91st year and have an abundance of soft brown hair, which I attribute to the use of your preparation."—Mrs. Mary A. Keith, Belleville, Ill.

Good Boys

Are the bad boys very often. The boy that's good for anything is generally pugnacious. He's a healthy animal, and the healthy animal will always fight for his rights.

When a boy shuns the rough sports of his companions he is apt to be a weakling, and to be conscious of the fact.
